Spada Answers the Critics

KINGSTON

Recent attacks on the proposed $6,000 salary increase for Ulster County Clerk Albert Spada which would have raised his present $13,000 annual salary to $19,000 received an answer today from Spada himself who said he never sought such a salary but asked, "Why should I and my family be deprived of a wage compatible with other county clerks just because I work for the Ulster County government?"

Spada's proposed $6,000 wage increase will not be granted because of the President's 5.5 per cent ceiling on increases but, if the county adheres to that increase percentage, the clerk would receive a $2,265 raise bringing his salary to $15,265. The county will act on the budget Dec. 5.

Spada, who works in three different capacities as county clerk—as head of the Motor Vehicle Department, clerk of the court and registrar, said that similar posts in contiguous counties pay far in excess of his salary. Dutchess has $20,000 on the books for its county clerk, he explained; Greene County has $15,000; Sullivan, $16,000 and Orange County, $22,000. County clerks in New York City who serve only as registrars receive $35,000 each in each of the city's boroughs, he said.

"I feel the public should be aware," Spada said, "that department heads did not seek the salary increases in the county budget, they were not requested."

Full-time commissioners set for Ulster County Board of Elections. Story on page 13.

The increases were sought by various department committees who in turn passed along their recommendations to the county's Finance Committee which made all the decisions, he explained.

Spada said he never went over the budget with the County Legislative Chairman Peter J. Savago, as was done in years past, but left it to the bi-partisan Finance Committee.

One member of that committee, Minority Leader Dr. Gerald P. Gorman (D-City), Spada recalled, "completely exonerated the Finance Committee from any and all criticisms leveled at it."

At a Nov. 21 meeting of the County Legislature, Dr. Gorman lavished praise on Savago and the Finance Committee for arriving at a fair budget. Dr. Gorman defended the pay hikes explaining the many hours of work accomplished yearly within the committee system. Using the Ulster County Community College Committee as an example, he told of its having met for 150 hours "of solid negotiations."

"I feel you have to access worth . . . a value on time," he said. "We havn't been sitting on our duffs up here . . . especially the chairman (Savago) who runs a $32 million corporation. No industry would pay him only $7,500," Dr. Gorman said.

Spada also explained that even with the $2,265 increase in his salary under the 5.5 per cent guideline, he would be prevented from receiving cost of living increases over the next three years. According to law, a county clerk may not receive a raise in pay except in the year for which he sought office. County clerk's run for their posts every three years.

With regard to critics who ask where are the salary increases for other than department heads? Spada explained that $620,000 has already been included in the 1973 budget to accommodate salary increases for county employes. The exact amount for each employe has not been spelled out however because the pay increases are still being negotiated between the county and the Civil Service Employes Association.

Snyder Quitting GOP Post

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

In a surprise move Monday, Republican Majority Leader of the Ulster County Legislature Clifford W. Snyder notified his fellow legislators that he will not continue in his leadership post after the first of the year.

"There are just not enough hours in the day," the Saugerties legislator reasoned in explaining that in addition to his job as a manager of computer operations at IBM, he is presently taking business and management courses at Ulster County Community College.

Snyder said he is anxious to continue in his role as a legislator but without the additional responsibility of the leadership.

It is reported that Snyder would have had no trouble at all in being reelected to the majority post when selection is made at the organizational meeting in January.

However, his announcement yesterday immediately brought forth speculation regarding Snyer's successor with at least five persons reportedly interested in the post and still others mentioned as popular candidates if they would accept the position.

Among those reportedly interested are former Majority Leader Douglas V. Dye (R-Dist. 2) who was deposed last year when Snyder received the nod and Brian White (R-Dist. 9) who made a behind the scenes unsuccessful try for the post last year when the leadership was up for grabs.

Also Melvin Mones (R-city) and Ernest John Gardner (R-Dist. 11) are also reportedly interested and Lester C. Elmendorf (R-Dist. 2) while not seeking the post, has been mentioned as the choice of several.

Special

Snyder, who notified members of the Legislature of his decision by letter, told The Freeman that he would like to continue his college courses for the next year or two and that they would necessarily preclude the additional work the post of majority leader requires.

Snyder also pointed out that his responsibilities as chairman of the Sheriff's Committee will require a good deal of extra effort during the coming year inasmuch as the new Ulster County Jail will be opening and the county-wide police communications systems will be implemented. Studies of the system have been completed and Snyder anticipates many meetings in connection with the project.

He said he had discussed his decision with his wife and they agreed it would be better if he relinquished the leadership role.

Snyder said he has enjoyed being majority leader and has "gained a lot of knowledge about county government through it."

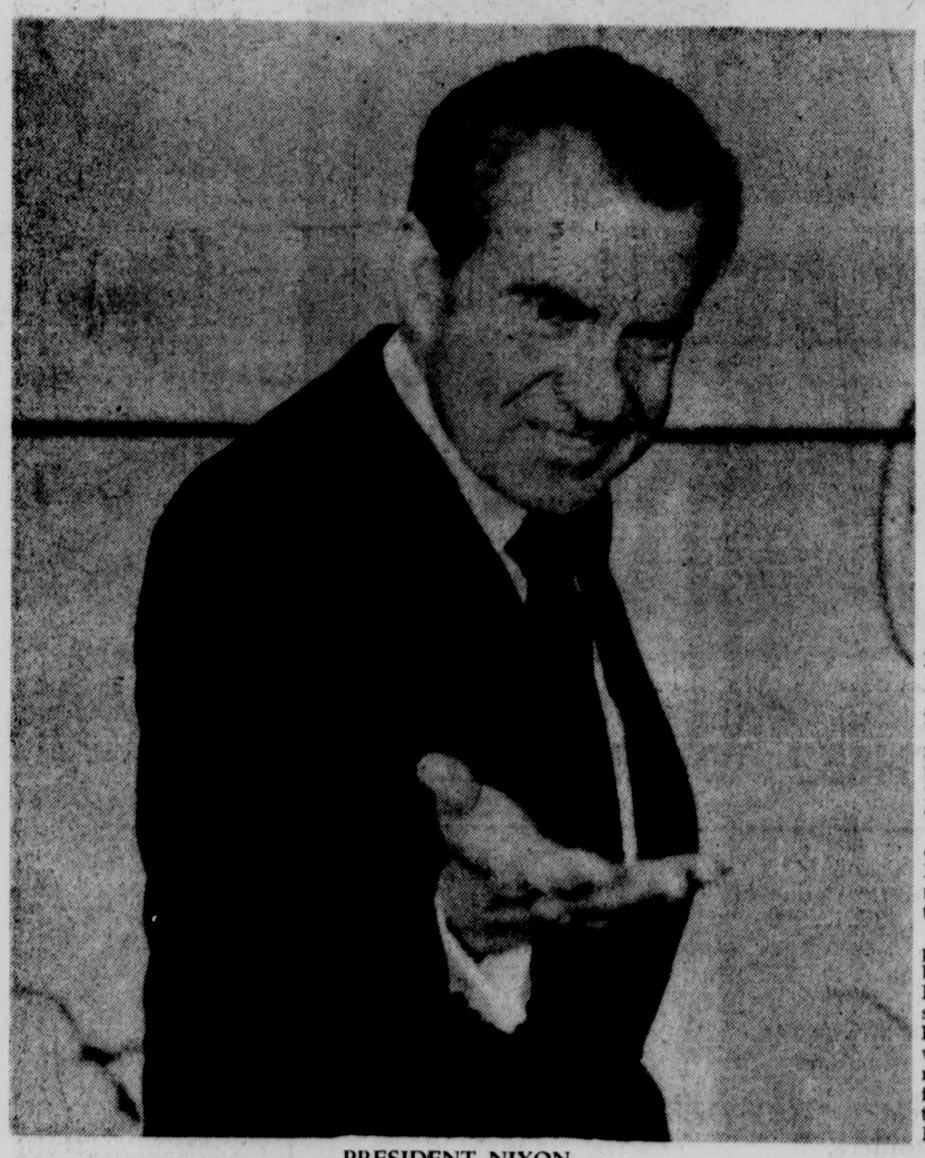

Both Republicans and Democrats are expected to caucus between now and the end of the year in order to chose their respective leaderships. It is reported that Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, minority leader will again be the choice of the Democrats to lead them for another year. The County Legislature will also meet Tuesday, Dec. 5 to act on the Ulster County $32 million budget for 1973.

It is also anticipated that Chairman of the Legislature Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) will be reelected to lead the county board for another year. He has been chairman since 1968 and prior to that led the Board of Supervisors during 1967.

Snyder, a native of High Woods has guided the plans for the new county jail to near fruition and was a proponent of the county-wide communications system. He has also served on the Conservation, Date Processing, Finance, Legislative and Rules and Recreation and Youth Committees of the Legislature. He also presently serves the Board of Elections and Coroner and Sealer, Committees and is chairman of the Sheriff's Committee.

Premier Cites Failure to Sign Cease-Fire Pact

Chou En-lai 'Severely Condemns' U.S.

PRESIDENT NIXON
. . . meeting with the press
(UPI TELEPHOTO)

By United Press International

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai has "severely condemned" the United States for failure to sign a cease-fire agreement in North Vietnam and pledged continued support to the Hanoi regime, Hanoi Radio reported today.

The statement came as Communist sources in Paris reported North Vietnam had signed a new military aid agreement with China while marking time in the snagged peace negotiations and is discussing further aid with Moscow.

The negotiations between Presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho resume Monday Dec. 4 after a nine-day suspension. Kissinger conferred twice Monday with President Nixon and is expected to fly to Paris this weekend for more meetings with the Communists.

Both Saigon and Hanoi were taking advantage of the lapse to improve their bargaining positions.

Hoang Duc Nha, President Nguyen Van Thieu's closest political adviser, flew to Paris under strict secrecy to help supervise the new secret talks, and Nguyen Phu Duc, another personal Thieu envoy, was meeting with Nixon on Wednesday. All indications were the talks were snagged on Hanoi's refusal and Saigon's demand that North Vietnamese troops be removed from South Vietnam.

Vietnam war story on Page 26.

North Vietnamese Deputy Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach was en route from Paris to Hanoi to report to the ruling Politburo on the Kissinger talks which were broken off last Saturday.

A Hanoi delegation headed by Le Thanh Nghi, a North Vietnamese vice premier, concluded an agreement in Peking Sunday under which China will supply economic and military aid to North Vietnam in 1973 free of any charge, sources said.

The Hanoi team is currently negotiating a similar extension of Soviet aid into next year, the sources said.

China and Russia are the two main suppliers of war material and economic aid to North Vietnam. Moscow has supplied Hanoi with both conventional infantry equipment plus sophisticated weapons such as SAM ground-to-air missiles and MIG fighters, and has trained North Vietnamese crews in their handling.

Diplomatic sources in Paris reported earlier that both Peking and Moscow urged moderation when Le Duc Tho stopped off there recently on a trip to Hanoi for negotiations with his government, but the Communist statements in Paris today indicated China, at least, might be growing impatient with Washington.

The Communist Vietnam News Agency (VNA) in a broadcast over Hanoi Radio said Chou has "severly condemned" the United States for allegedly delaying the signing of a Vietnamese peace proposal and said he will not let the United States ruin the relationship between China and North Vietnam.

The news agency said Chou made the statement Sunday after China signed the military and economic pact with North Vietnam for 1973.

Wednesday, Nixon meets with Nguyen Phu Duc, Thieu's personal representative and Kissinger's Vietnamese equivalent. Thieu asked Nixon to meet with Duc and the President agreed. Thieu objects to certain provisions of an accord drafted by Kissinger and the North Vietnamese last month—especially a provision that would allow Hanoi to keep troops in South Vietnam after a cease-fire.

Richardson Is Named New Defense Secretary

CAMP DAVID, Md. (UPI) — President Nixon today named Elliot L. Richardson as defense secretary and Caspar W. Weinberger as welfare secretary in his "new look" second term administration. He also picked Roy L. Ash to be budget director.

Richardson, now welfare secretary, was chosen to succeed Melvin R. Laird, who announced months ago his plans to give up the Pentagon post.

Weinberger will give up his present Cabinet-level job as budget director to take over for Richardson as head of the sprawling Department of Health, Education and Welfare, while industrialist Ash will move into government for the first time to become head of the Office of Management and Budget.

The President Monday also accepted with "special regret" the resignation of George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development. He said Romney, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally would not figure in new administration appointments.

George Romney's four-year crusade ending. Story on page 26.

Laird and Romney had previously announced their intentions of leaving their Cabinet posts at the end of Nixon's first term.

But much of the President's 21-minute talk to the dozen newsmen at his Catoctin Mountain retreat here Monday seemed aimed at discouraging speculation that he would rely less on his Cabinet in his second term than during his first four years.

"While there will be cuts in personnel around the government," Nixon said Monday, "the biggest cuts will be made in the White House staff itself."

He said "we are going to put greater responsibility on individual Cabinet members for various functions that previously had been that of the White House staff."

Nixon on Nov. 8 asked for standby resignations from the Cabinet, members of the White House staff, major agency officials, and other political appointees, perhaps 2,000 in all.

Besides announcing a Cabinet change, Nixon planned to meet today with Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, chairman of the Republican National Committee, House Republican leader Gerald Ford of Michigan, Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz, undersecretary of Comerce James Lynn and Charles Colson, White House aide noted mainly for political operations.

Violence Continues in North Ireland

Heavy Fighting Along Border

BELFAST (UPI) —Heavy fighting broke out today along the 300-mile border between Ulster and the Irish Republic, the British Army announced.

An explosion in a house in the Bogside Roman Catholic district of Londonderry killed three youths, police said, and one policeman died in a rocket attack on a police station at Belleek, 45 miles southwest of Londonderry.

The deaths brought the toll for almost 3½ years of violence in Northern Ireland to 644 dead.

"It looks as though the whole border has caught alight," a British Army spokesman said. "We are fighting gunbattles from north and south of the border and we are up to our eyes in it at the moment."

The battles in various border villages started after two bazooka attacks on police posts at Belleek and at Strabane, a border village in County Tyrone 90 miles southwest of Belfast.

There was also an explosion in a Catholic house in the Old Park road, North Belfast. The blast occurred next to a Protestant school.

The policeman was killed by a rocket which smashed through a wall into the central staircase of the building. Police inside had beaten back the first attack, the spokesman said, and troop reinforcements were called in from other border areas to reinforce the station.

Irish army troops also gathered just across the border in the republic.

The spokesman said immediately after the rocket was fired gunmen raked the station with bullets. Police inside returned the fire. Raiders returned and were driven off a second time, he said.

In Dublin police mounted guard on leading Irish politicians, to prevent any attempt to take hostages in return for the release of IRA chief of staff Sean MacStiofain.

A gang of gunmen dressed as priests and hospital orderlies tried to spring the 45-year-old MacStiofain from a hospital Sunday, but were thwarted after a battle with police. Authorities transferred him to the Curragh army camp Monday for security reasons. MacStiofain was sentenced to six months in prison Saturday for membership in an illegal organization.

Ruairi O'Bradeigh, president of the Provisional wing's political branch, called for a mass protest in Dublin today against the government's proposed legislation making it possible to convict IRA suspects simply on the testimony of a senior police officer.

MacStiofain went on a hunger strike after his arrest 10 days ago and Justice Minister Desmond O'Malley said he would leave it to army doctors to decide whether to force feed him. Mrs. MacStiofain said her husband was dying but that she would never allow doctors to force feed him.

The journalists' union called a 24-hour strike to protest the "repressive legislation" and the jailing for contempt of a radio-television newsman who testified at MacStiofain's trial. The newsman was freed on $1,175 bond Monday. The strike deprived Dublin and Cork of newspapers today.

Three gunmen planted a bomb that tore apart a hotel Monday night in Castlederg on Ulster's border with the Republic. No one was hurt.

Report Vehicle 'Unoccupied'

Fire Destroys House Trailer

ACCORD

A fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed an unoccupied house trailer on Lawrence Hill Road in Accord Monday night.

Accord firefighters, assisted by men and equipment from the Alligerville Fire Company, fought the blaze in the 50-foot trailer for approximately two hours.

The trailer was owned by Ross Coddington of Accord. It had reportedly been unoccupied for several weeks.

A mechanical failure in the alarm system at the downtown Daily Freeman office on Broadway brought Kingston firefighters out shortly after noon Monday. Five pieces of apparatus responded. A marked fluctuation of water pressure reportedly may have triggered the alarm system.

Kingston firemen were again called out at 4:35 p.m. when it was reported that a tank truck was losing gas on Broadway. An undetermined amount of diesel fuel was found spread over an extensive area of Broadway from East Chester Street to the Old City Hall.

Water from a hydrant was used to flush the fuel from the street, and the Board of Public Works was called on to sand the street due to slippery conditions.

A tractor-trailer tank truck owned by Wickham Sales and Service of Delhi reportedly spilled the fuel. A hatch had reportedly popped on the truck, permitting the fuel to spill to the street.

Esopus firemen were called out to Mother Cabrini's in West Park at 2:40 a.m. today when a blow-back in the boiler system touched off an alarm in the boiler room. No damage was reported. Firefighters returned to station shortly after 3 a.m.

Federal Revenue Sharing ...Town of Hurley 'Looking'

HURLEY

The Town of Hurley is looking forward to a piece of the Federal Revenue Sharing action, but officials are not sure, at this time, how much of a windfall they'll get.

For that reason, representatives of the Town Board will travel to Tarrytown on Dec. 23 for a meeting with the New York State Department of Audit and Control and federal officials. They assume that they'll get more of a definite indication of how much federal money will eventually reach the township this year.

The meeting date was announced at Monday's Town Board session. The meeting also saw the Town Board accept the resignation of Edward Molloy, chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals. Molloy, a resident of West Hurley and an employe of the New York Telephone Company, did not specify a reason for his departure.

In other action, the Town Board sent $25 to the Children's Rehabilitation Center in Kingston. The money represents the value of recycled materials collected in the township during the last recycling drive.

A proposal to allow the dumping of Christmas trees at the town landfill was tabled.

The Town Board normally meets on the last Monday of each month. Due to the Christmas holiday, next month's session will be held Dec. 18 at 8 p. m. at the Old Hurley Firehouse.

Town of Ulster GOPers To Hear Guest Speaker

TOWN OF ULSTER

The Town of Ulster Republican Club will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, Nov. 30, at 8 p.m. at the Bonanza Branch, Heritage Savings Bank, Ulster Avenue Mall.

Guest speaker will be Keith Swan, young resident of the Town of Ulster, who attended the Republican 1972 National Convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

He will speak concerning his experiences as a representative of the Youth for Nixon movement at the convention and the role of young people in today's Republican Party.

During the business portion of the meeting, reports will be made by the committees on Election Headquarters, nomination committee on the election of officers in December, and the annual Christmas party to be held on Dec. 9 at the Walnut Grove, Kingston. Reservations for this affair should be made by Dec. 1 with Mrs. John Leonard or Mrs. Fred Wadnola, both of Lake Katrine.

Kingston Detectives Investigating Entries

KINGSTON

Kingston Police Department detectives are investigating entries into three business firms and one residence.

Detectives reported that burglars entered Scibelli's Place, 456 Broadway, by forcing a rear door. Coin boxes on three vending machines were pried open and an undetermined amount of small change taken, along with a single-barrel 12-gauge shotgun.

Thieves gained entry at Kingston Chrysler - Plymouth Inc., 515 Albany Avenue, by forcing a side door. They reportedly took $493.74 from a locked cabinet in the office.

Universal Road Machinery Company, 27 Emerick Street, reported Monday afternoon that someone had entered the building through a coal chute. Reported missing were hand tools valued at $40.

Bruce Brady reported Monday night that someone had entered his mobile home at 176 Wilbur Avenue by forcing the front door. About $113 in various household items was reported missing.

Soviets, Romania Patch Helsinki Quarrel

HELSINKI (UPI) —The Soviet Union and Romania today patched up a diplomatic quarrel that had stalled the Helsinki talks on European security.

Romania had insisted that rules for the talks include a clause that all 34 nations represented were equal "irrespective of membership in military alliances." The Soviets saw the clause as a dig at the Communist Warsaw Pact alliance and opposed it.

A spokesman said the stalemate broke when the nations agreed on compromise wording that the talks "will take place outside military alliances." The compromise was proposed by Romania, the spokesman said, and approved by the Russians.

With the compromise, the talks moved rapidly toward approval of the other rules of order. The spokesman said the conference might be ready to begin debate Wednesday on the real business in Helsinki—whether to hold a full European Security Conference and what to discuss there.

The battle between the Soviets and Romania—allies within the Warsaw Pact but often at odds—was the first of the five-day-old talks and showed that a small nation, if determined enough, can stop the superpowers in their tracks.

Because of Romanian insistence, the 34 ambassadors adopted a resolution that "all states taking part in consultations shall participate on the basis of equal sovereignty, representing independent states and under conditions of full equality. These consultations will take place outside military alliances."

The Russians had objected only to the earlier wording on military alliances—not to the wording on equality as such—but the entire phrase was Romania's way of signalling its independence.

Belgium had sought to compromise the quarrel by trying to put the entire clause into a preamble. Poland also proposed wording that the talks would take place "outside any category of bloc," but this was opposed by members of the European Common Market, who have agreed to a unified approach to some issues.

In the end, the spokesman said, the compromise was reached in the corridors during a brief recess.

Romania stalled the Helsinki talks among 34 Western ambassadors by insisting that the rules of the meeting include a clause guaranteeing each nation's independence and quality —"irrespective of its membership in military alliances."

To the Soviet Union and its allies, this criticized the Warsaw Pact. They protested that it was "not necessary."

Belgium suggested removing the offending language from the preamble. Spokesmen said that for the moment Romania was holding fast. The United States took a relaxed stance—ready to accept the Romanian clause, the Belgian compromise or the original language—which did not mention "military alliances."

Other Western nations, including Britain and France, held similar positions. The dispute held up progress toward the real business of the meeting here, on whether a full security conference should take place. This, as much as the Romanian defiance, was known to irritate the Russians, who have urged speed here.

EMPTY SAFE — An amused Don Garvin, an engineer with the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., opened a floor safe installed beneath an office of the hotel nearly 25 years ago supposedly by builder Bugsy Siegel. The safe was empty. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

'Mystery Safe' Wasn't Bugsy's

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Whatever "Murder Inc." secrets Bugsy Siegel knew, he took them with him to wherever it is gangsters go when they get rubbed out.

They weren't in the "mystery safe" found beneath a trapdoor in a hotel-casino Siegel built in 1946 before he was pumped full of carbine bullets in one of the spectacular gangland slayings of 1947.

The safe was empty and it wasn't Siegel's.

The new mystery: Whose was it? Why was it buried in the floor of the Flamingo Hotel, now run by the Hilton people.

The saga of the mystery safe began with the rolling up of a carpet in an office suite. It ended Monday in broken drills and bafflement.

There was the trapdoor. Beneath it was the safe, firmly imbedded in concrete.

And there were those old stories, long ignored, that Siegel, who built the Flamingo, had hidden a safe in the structure.

Two months after the Flamingo opened, as one of the first gambling resorts on what was to become the Las Vegas "strip," Siegel ran into money problems and had to close. It reopened with new management.

Authorities conjectured the Flamingo floor safe might contain some interesting information about Siegel and his business associates, some of whom are still around.

That was why the Clark County Sheriff's Department and the state Gaming Control Board had investigators on hand Monday when Art Tettinger, owner of Frank's Safe and Lock Co., and two assistants finally succeeded in opening the safe.

Tettinger drew open the door.

Identification of his enemies? A clue to Bugsy's murder? Loan shark records? Officials on the take? Mafia financial records?

Nothing. The safe was as empty as it could be. A groan of disappointment went round the room, and the watchers went off mumbling.

A former employe of the casino had a thought on the subject.

That part of the Flamingo wasn't built until 1948, he said, well after the June night in 1947 when a party or parties unknown fired nine bullets into Siegel's head and body as he sat reading the newspaper in a Beverly Hills mansion.

Consequently, the former employe said, Siegel could have had no connection with that safe.

Guillotine Claims Pair

PARIS (UPI) —Two convicted murderers were beheaded in the guillotine today in the first capital punishment carried out since President Georges Pompidou took office.

An official statement said Claude Buffet, 39, and Roger Bontemps, 45, who slit the throats of two hostages in a prison riot, died at dawn in the century-old La Sante Jail in Paris.

It was the first time the 88-pound blade had fallen since March 1969, one month before Charles de Gaulle stepped down from the presidency. On that occasion Jean Olivier, 28, was executed for the murder of two young brothers.

The Buffet-Bontemps affair became a cause celebre in France and during Buffet's trial at the Seine River city of Troyes in east-central France, onlookers shouted "Put the scum to death.!"

France is one of the few Western countries to retain capital punishment. The president of the republic can set aside a death penalty.

To date Pompidou, who once told a television interviewer "I am not a bloodthirsty man," has saved five condemned men.

At one time Buffet wrote a personal letter to Pompidou saying "If you pardon me I will start again."

As Buffet and Bontemps died, officials announced Pompidou had set aside the death sentence for Mohammed Libdiri, condemned for murdering a taxi driver.

Trade Welfare for Paychecks

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California's able-bodied welfare recipients are beginning to trade welfare grants for pay checks under a mandatory work program, state officials say.

One-time recipients are working as auto mechanics, busboys, sheet metal workers, barbers, warehousemen and in other fields says Bill Lawson of the Department of Human Resources Development.

In the six counties where the 4-month-old program is operating, 2,707 welfare recipients have been classified as employable, Lawson said. Of that total, 1,127 — or 42 per cent — are on regular jobs in private industry, 230 others are in training and 184 have been given "work experience assignments," he reported.

An additional 371 have been kicked off welfare rolls for refusing to take a job or training, Lawson added Monday.

Those for whom the state's unemployment office can't find a job immediately in the private sector are working for local governments in various jobs such as school crossing guards and parking lot attendants, Lawson said. Their only pay is their welfare checks.

"They're not just raking leaves," Lawson said. "It's work that needs to be done but otherwise wouldn't be done without raising taxes. And it gives them work experience, don't forget that."

The department claims more than 50 per cent of the recipients have moved into private jobs or job training and only about 7 per cent are in public service work.

Mandatory work assignments are limited to 80 hours monthly in the public service sector. Recipients who fail to accept "suitable" job offers or quit looking for private employment lose their welfare benefits, Lawson said. Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration estimates some 30,000 persons will eventually be included in the program as it is expanded to other counties.

The job-finding program is run jointly by the state's employment office, state welfare office and county welfare offices.

The program exempts persons under 16 years of age and those over 65. Mothers who take care of children aged 6 or under also exempted.

'Negotiations' Are Underway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiations are under way between the United States and Cuba on ways of resolving an air hijacking problem that causes difficulties for both countries.

Since there are no diplomatic relations between the U.S. and Cuba, the U.S. side of the negotiations in Havana is being represented by the Swiss ambassador in Cuba. There have not been negotiations on substantive matters between Cuba and the United States since 1961.

The State Department here said Monday it had its first report from the ambassador concerning an initial meeting with the Cubans. A spokesman described it as a preliminary discussion and an exchange of views on the situation.

State Department Press Officer John King said the discussions probably will continue for some time and that few details will be announced here while they are in progress.

The latest exchange of communications occurred following the hijacking to Cuba on Nov. 12 of a Southern Airways DC9 by three men.

Showing obvious unhappiness at the continued attempts by American hijackers to win asylum in Cuba, the Cuban government announced it would try the trio on various charges, including extortion.

One possible stumbling block in the negotiations on an antihijack agreement is a demand repeated by the Cuban Foreign Ministry in recent days that there must also be a "reciprocal and absolute commitment" from the United States to punish persons in Florida who are "openly recruited, organized and trained" to attack Cuban vessel and to smuggle people off that island.

The State Department has said negotiations with Cuba would be restricted to the hijacking problem.

Beware of 'Sharp Operators'

Holiday Warning From Chamber

KINGSTON — The Chamber of Commerce of Ulster County today warned shoppers to be wary of sharp operators who step up their activities during the Christmas season.

Len Cane, executive vice president of the County Chamber, said these seasonal swindlers drain millions of dollars annually from consumers and businessmen, capitalizing on the Christmas rush and the fact that people tend to be more generous and trusting at this time of the year.

According to Cane, the Christmas gyp has many guises:

● He may be a street corner peddler hawking cheap watches, perfume, gadgets, toys, ties and other shoddy merchandise.

● He may work for mail order firms offering toys, watches, jewelry and other items supposedly at a fraction of the retail price. When the merchandise arrives, if it ever does, it may be a cheap imitation of the item thought to have been ordered.

● He may be only a telephone voice making appeals for some unknown charitable organization or a self-described needy individual seeking clothing, food or funds.

● He may be a glib, well-dressed salesman harassing businessmen who buy gifts in quantity at Christmas. Sales may be attempted in offices, at factory gates, on the street or door-to-door.

The perfume hoax is one of the most widespread of the Christmas gyps. Christmas shoppers lose thousands of dollars each year buying imitations of well-known brands of perfumes or rebottled colognes and toilet water at exorbitant prices.

Based on past experience, these other schemes can be expected to reappear:

● The shipping of unordered merchandise to consumers by unknown charitable organizations who request donations for the goods shipped. Consumers who receive unordered merchandise through the mails are not obligated to return it or pay for it unless it is used.

● Attempts to collect on C.O.D. packages supposedly for a neighbor who, the deliverer says, "is not at home." The packages may contain unordered merchandise or merely paper or cotton wadding.

● Distribution of courtesy cards for purchasing gifts at a discount from fictitious prices.

● Mail-order rackets in which a claim stub is received stating that the shipper is holding a package which will be sent on return of the stub and a small amount. If money is sent, a cheap pen-and-pencil set or something similar is received.

The Chamber outlined these guidelines for Christmas shoppers:

● Consumers ordering Christmas gifts from mail-order firms should generally allow three or four weeks for delivery.

● Sales may be final. Ascertain conditions of sales and obtain guarantees in writing.

● Examine purchases before Christmas. Don't expect transient vendors to be around after the holiday to listen to complaints.

● Deal only with retailers of known reliability. Shop locally.

Junior Achievement In Charter Program

KINGSTON — Junior Achievement charter presentations were made recently at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Four charter presentations were made at the gathering:

Max Eckdish, vice-president of Kingston Knitting Mills, presented the national operating charter for KCM (Kingston-Coleman Manufacturing) to Michael Barbosa, president of the achiever company, which is sponsored by Kingston Knitting Mills.

David J. Krall, assistant general manager at IBM Kingston presented a Junior Achievement charter to Dan Fineberg, president of Shadow.

Michael Fisher, representing Kingston Cablevision, presented a charter to Paul Rodriquez, president of the achiever company, Creat TVT.

And, Roger Duke of Rotron, Inc., presented a charter to Debra Romano, president of Hope Enterprises.

These charters authorize achiever companies to function under the guidelines of the national organization of Junior Achievement, much as a new business might obtain state incorporation papers. Achiever company presidents, in turn, presented plaques of appreciation to their respective sponsoring parent company.

Opening remarks at the recent session were made by Robert E. Deitrick, president of the Board of Directors of the area program. Jack Roche, JA's new executive director, outlined plans for the 1972-73 year and then introduced the advisors of the sponsoring companies.

The advisors include:

Kingston Knitting Mills: Stanley Austin, supervisor; Bruce Crantz, machinist and Jack D. Listanowsky, plant engineer.

IBM: Russell D. Cole, mechanical engineer; Edward J. Steedle, systems test engineer and Art J. Bowen, programmer.

Kingston Cablevision: Thomas O'Keefe, general manager and Michael Fisher, program director.

Rotron, Inc.: Alex C. Powell, foreman of motor assembly; Karl Sjursen, process technician; Bruce E. Peller, production planner and Jayanti R. Patel, Aerodynamical engineer.

More than 65 parents, achievers and area businessmen attended the annual event.

Dale Carnegie Preview Wednesday

KINGSTON — An Open House-Preview Meeting for the Dale Carnegie Course is set for Wednesday night, Nov. 29, at the Kingston Howard Johnsons Motor Lodge, starting promptly at 7:01 p.m. This annoucement was made by Stanley Brown, Associate Sponsor for the Dale Carnegie Courses in the Westchester and Mid-Hudson regions.

"The purpose of the meeting is to give the members of the community an opportunity to find out how the world-famous course, now in its 60th year, can help them," Brown went on to say. The class, which has a limited enrollment is scheduled to start Wednesday night. Anyone who wants to reserve a spot in this class, who hasn't done so, should contact The Daily Freeman, which is sponsoring the course, by phoning 331-5000.

(Greater New York's Blue Shield Plan)

Pursuant to subdivision 2-a (b) of Section 255 of the Insurance Law of the State of New York, notice is hereby given that a two-session public hearing will be held at the Auditorium, American Red Cross Building, 150 Amsterdam Avenue, New York, New York, commencing at 10:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. on Friday, December 8, 1972.

This public hearing will afford any interested person the opportunity to be heard by officials of United Medical Service, Inc. on the following subjects affecting community-rated groups and subscribers in varying degrees by class of contract. The proposed rate changes do not affect subscribers who are experience-rated, or covered under Senior Care contracts.

1. The application of UMS for increases in the schedule of rates to be paid beginning March 1, 1973 by community-rated subscribers covered by the three UMS Better Benefit and the Expanded Protection High Option contracts.
2. The application of UMS for the addition to all Better Benefit contracts of office emergency care covering an initial office visit for emergency treatment of a sudden and acute illness.
3. The application of UMS for a coordination of benefits clause for subscribers holding both UMS and other medical coverage issued on a group basis.
4. Replacement, or upgrading with increased rates, of outdated contracts which do not meet the Insurance Department's new minimum standards for basic medical insurance.

To help in scheduling—and for the convenience of all wishing to be heard, kindly call or write Mr. Caesar Branchini at the address shown below, giving him your name, address and affiliation.

This announcement of the hearing on the changes for which United Medical Service, Inc. plans to seek approval is published to give notice to all who may wish to appear at the hearing. The detailed terms of the proposed changes as they may affect each individual and group, and as presently planned, are available on request at the address shown below:

Paltz Village Trustee Levels Charge

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ

Village of New Paltz taxpayers have been "victimized" three ways by the Town of New Paltz, according to Village Trustee John Logan. The village's attorney has authorized to sue the town to eliminate one of the ways.

Logan, who made his charges at Monday night's meeting of the village board, said the town was collecting taxes from village residents it should be excusing them from, had in the past—and may still be—transferring money from the general fund to part-town funds, and was going to put the $39,000 tentatively budgeted for the town to Federal Emergency Manpower Act funds into the part-town section of the budget instead of into the general fund for all of the town's residents.

Village Attorney J. Philip Zand has been authorized by the board to sue the town on behalf of the people of the village. The suit will seek to force the town to excuse the village from certain items of the highway budget which the law allows a town to excuse an incorporated village from.

Zand said, after the meeting, that the suit would be filed shortly in State Supreme Court. One of the difficulties the suit will face, said Zand, is that it has never been tried before in New York State.

Village resident Louis Fagon said during the meeting that he and other village residents would be willing to add their names to the suit, or pursue a separate class action. Zand said the approach was "worth considering."

Logan said a 1971 state audit of the town's books noted that the town had transferred from the general fund—into which all residents of the town pay taxes—into part-town funds which are used for services provided to town residents living outside the village.

Logan said the report said the practice should cease. Fagon said the total amount transferred, according to the report, was $111,000.

In other action, the board appointed a building inspector for the village, Harold Thomsen of 13 Cherry Hill Road. Arthur Pritchet, town building inspector, had been working part-time for the village.

Mayor Henry W. Dubois and Trustee John M. Sherwig commended Pritchet for the job he had done. Sherwig said Pritchet had been too pressed for time, doing the two jobs, and he had to concentrate on new construction under the building code and neglect enforcing the housing code. According to Sherwig, Thomsen will place special emphasis on enforcing the housing code.

Thomsen has experience in domestic construction, and 20 years experience as a quality control engineer with several firms. His salary will be $10,000 a year.

Both Pritchet and Thomsen will have jurisdiction in the other's territory, board members said.

In response to questions asked by Mrs. Martha Hobercht in a letter, the board said Plattekill Avenue would be widened at the village expense whether or not the new Huguenot Square shopping center was built; that the shopping center would pay for the construction of Vanderlyn Avenue; and the work in widening Plattekill, and extending Fulton Road would probably be contracted out.

Planning Board Chairman Harold Onderdonk notified the board by letter that he would be moving outside the town in January, and submitted his resignation. Sherwig requested that Zand look into the matter to see if Onderdonk really had to resign before the resignation was accepted. A letter from the planning board, signed by E. Ralph Kulseng, requested that Onderdonk be named a consultant to the planning board if it was found that he did have to resign.

Village resident Gasper Capone made a lengthy presentation in which he questioned the zoning of the tract proposed for the Huguenot Square center. He was told by Zand that the zoning was proper.

The board's next regular meeting was moved back to Dec. 18. The normal date would fall on Christmas.

'Open Campus' for Seniors ...Board to Investigate

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK

The Rhinebeck Board of Education, in basic agreement about "open campus for seniors," will further investigate its impact on the school before any implementation, it was decided Monday night.

The open campus concept, as proposed by High School Principal Erwin Kane, would allow seniors with several study halls to leave the school grounds to pursue other matters.

As discussed at the board meeting, the idea was debated on whether the school's decision on what is proper reason should stand on whether the option would be given to the student for taking any or all time not in assigned classes where he chose. In either case, parental approval would be necessary.

Kane commented in concluding the discussion, "I would like to see us say, just once, that we are going to try something new—to stick our necks out."

He pointed out that there are 11 seniors now attending school on a part time basis while holding down part time jobs, on the job training, or doing volunteer work.

Board member Mrs. Charles Rider said she was in favor of making the senior year optional, and said that the student point of view on what he felt to be worthwhile should be taken into consideration.

The point was made that many students who are, in the words of board member Albert Vinck, "not into school" and do not participate in extracurricular activities anyway are using up valuable time and energy that might be better spent elsewhere.

In other business, Kane renewed a proposal for a changed marking system, giving the results of student and faculty surveys.

The surveys showed that the majority of the students preferred retaining a numerical grading system over letters or pass-fail, and that teachers agreed. Recommendations were deferred.

Elementary school principal William Fisher stated that Kingston Cablevision connections with the three district schools were in various stages of accomplishment.

Connection with the Bulkeley School posed no problem; aerial connection with Chancellor Livingston Elementary School could be easily accomplished; and aerial connection with the high school would require the installation of a pole.

The board consensus was that an underground installation should be made at the high school, as all other utilities were underground. Since Kingston Cablevision would not stand the cost, estimates for this will be sought.

It was noted that a committee composed of faculty and students has been coordinated to study narcotics usage in the school. The program is part of the implementation of suggestions from an analysis of the school district last year which recommended more student involvement be encouraged.

Discussion on policy regarding use of school buildings and on early school closings was postponed until the Dec. 11 meeting.

Small Business Session . . . Openings Available

KINGSTON

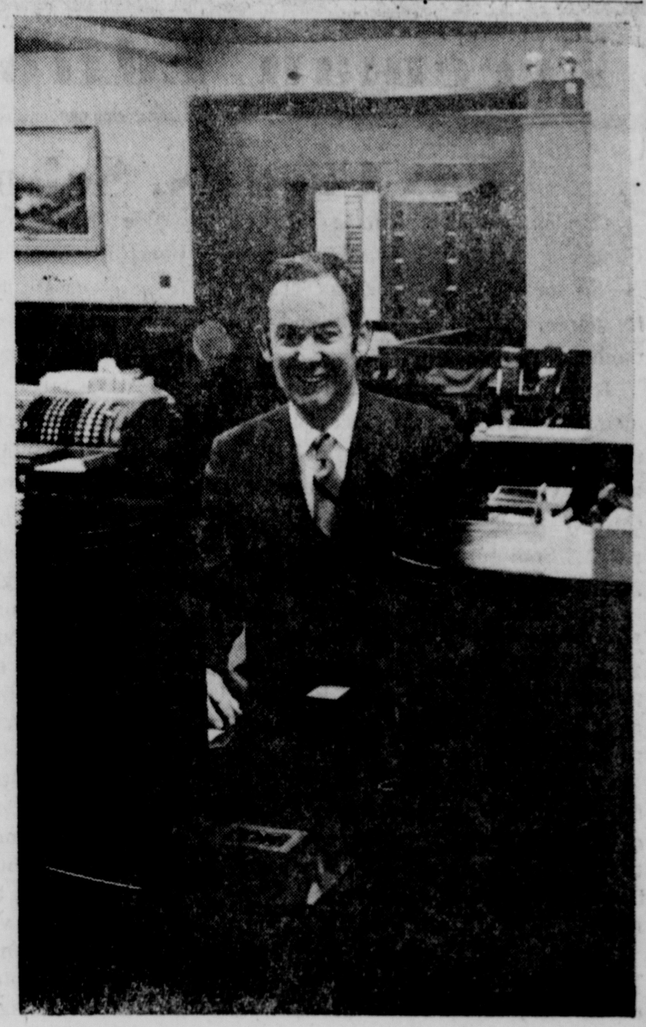

There are still openings available for interested persons to meet with Edward J. Ryan, Small Business Administration loan officer, who will be in Kingston Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Len Cane, executive vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce of Ulster County, said there are still several morning and afternoon openings available to area businessmen who wish to meet with the loan officer. Appointments should be made through the Chamber office.

The individual meetings will take place at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Cane said that Ryan will continue to meet with Kingston area businessmen on the first Friday of each month.

Viewed Defiance as 'Patriotic'

WASHINGTON — The congressional seniority system sometimes bestows authority like an oversized hat on an undersized head.

As living evidence of this, Rep. John McMillan, D-S.C., has been a power in the House for the past quarter of a century. His constituents finally turned him out of office this year and the old man is now sadly cleaning out his files.

A drawerful at a time, he is dumping into the waste bins the evidence of his faithful service to the good folks of his native South Carolina.

As No. 2 man on the House Agriculture Committee, he has done what he could to help the tobacco farmers. As chairman of the House District of Columbia Committee, he has labored hard to keep the blacks down.

He has always made his power felt by being against things, by opposing progress. This had always been enough to satisfy the voters in the past that he was a "good American."

He had helped, for example, to put the late Adam Clayton Powell in his place. The haughty Harlem congressman had tried to stand too high in the House until he was unseated for misusing House funds.

McMillan crumpled up a letter he had written back in 1967 to Walter Brown, an editorial writer for the Spartanburg Herald-Journal. "I am certain," McMillan had written, "that every thinking Member of Congress knows that Adam Powell has broken practically every law on the statute books and all the while thinking he could get by with it simply because he is a nigger."

'Defy Court'

McMillan was a loud advocate of law and order — unless, of course, he didn't like the laws. Along with the letters castigating Powell, he also threw away several letters he had written in the 1960s to school officials throughout his district urging them to "ignore the Supreme Court decision" which banned prayer in public schools.

He also fought attempts to implement the integration laws. To one constituent he wrote: "You can rest assured that we are all very much disturbed over the Department of Education's rules and regulations." He assured another constituent that he was "putting the heat on Commissioner Howe (Harold Howe, then commissioner of education) We hope to have him out of the government soon."

But McMillan viewed his defiance of the law as "patriotic." It was quite different for blacks to challenge the laws they don't like.

"Powell had been getting away with murder during the past 10 or 15 years simply because he is a nigger . . .," wrote McMillan in another discarded letter dated February 20, 1967. "We have several million other niggers in this country who have been creating riots and demonstrations and refusing to obey the state and city laws who I think will stop and think since we have stripped Powell of his influence . . ."

Can't Understand Why

This was written after Powell had been stripped of his committee chairmanship but before he was ousted from the House. In another letter, McMillan commented: "We can refuse to seat him, however, we are just about as certain that the Harlem niggers will reelect him . . ."

At 74, McMillan felt he still had some good years to give his constituents. He glanced at another letter from his files and shook his head sadly; he couldn't understand why they turned him out.

Then he crumpled up the letter and dropped it into the trash. It was from Ed Ragland, then vice president of the Tobacco Institute. "You are most assuredly a strong friend of the tobacco industry," attests the letter, "and I want you to know that all of us in the tobacco industry are appreciative of your efforts in personally preventing the Congress from increasing the cigarette tax in the District of Columbia."

Footnote: We were mentioned in some of the letters McMillan emptied into the trash. He wrote to editorial writer Walter Brown: "Every person here in the Congress knows that Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson in their cynical manner did everything they could to assist Powell." This is a startling allegation, since the charges that led to Powell's ouster were first published in our column.

That Ol' Black Magic

Freeman Editorials

Tax Credits, Schools

One important bill facing the new Congress when it convenes next year is the measure providing tax credits for parents whose children attend non-public schools.

It is a matter that should be handled with dispatch. The threat to sectarian schools was one issue on which both President Nixon and Senator McGovern agreed in the recent campaign. Both supported the concept of granting credits.

The United States Supreme Court has agreed to rule on the constitutionality of the newest plan to use tax funds to aid hard-pressed parochial and private schools. At the same time, the State of New York is seeking to determine whether it can lawfully reimburse private schools for the cost of giving examinations and maintaining student records, services which they are required to do under state law.

A lower court has ruled that the New York plan, with all its logic, violates the principle of separation of church and state. And it is probable that the Supreme Court will agree. It was only last month that the top tribunal ruled that the state of Ohio could not reimburse parents for the cost of sending their children to a private school—a plan justified by the fact that school attendance is mandatory, whether a child goes to a public school or not.

We should not fault the Supreme Court for being scrupulous in its defense of constitutional principles.

However, we are confronted with the fact that non-public schools which contribute much to education in modern America, are, by and large, on the ropes financially.

Their costs, like those in the public schools, are increasing. Parents wanting to send their children to these schools are caught in the squeeze of rising tuition bills and rising tax bills to support the public system.

Many observers believe the tax credit plan is the one most likely to gain the sanction of the court. It would not involve the transfer of any funds from the public treasury to a religion-oriented institution. There is a precedent of allowing income tax deductions for contributions to churches—a principle which the courts, so far at least, have not viewed as a threat to religious freedom.

It was to protect religious freedom that the founding fathers specified in the Bill of Rights that "Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion." At that time, there was no public school system as we know it today. Surely there is room under the First Amendment for some kind of plan that will assure the survival of schools that provide a diversity and a freedom of choice of education.

Preventive Medicine

After 14 months of testimony taken in 47 states, the President's Committee on Health Education has reached the conclusion that most of the major causes of death in this country could be prevented by changes in the everyday habits of eating, exercise and drinking. This was reported to the 100th annual meeting of the American Public Health Association in Atlantic City.

Victor Weingarten, who is president of the Institute of Public Affairs and also chairman of the President's study committee, said that the few hospitals he had seen that were active in health education had shown that they were able to reduce the number of admissions. Education in preventive medicine had made unnecessary hospital treatment for those who learned what to do about their ailments.

The nation's hospitals will be flooded with patients in the event that a national health insurance law is passed, unless people learn and practice preventive medicine, the committee concluded. Several health insurance proposals were introduced in the last Congress and some will be reintroduced in the new Congress. If one passes, the committee's warning will be germane.

With employed persons losing an average of seven and a half days of work a year because of illness or preventable accidents, as Weingarten said, prevention practice could save 600 million man-days of work a year, beside the suffering and lives of those who can be taught the rudiments of avoiding illnesses.

Vote Against Change

WASHINGTON — A variety of reasons are being cited for the reelection of President Nixon by a heavy majority, but there is one fundamental factor that persuaded the American people to vote as they did. It was not reaction against Senator George McGovern—though his ideas were, of course, unpopular with many citizens—and it was not any unusual strength of the Republican party. The voting was prompted by something that has been characteristic of elections held in critical periods. It was a mandate against change.

Americans even went so far in 1940 as to elect Franklin Roosevelt to a third term, which was unprecedented. But the public didn't want a change since the United States was in a precarious position because most of the world was in the midst of war.

Mr. Nixon has steered the country through a serious economic situation, and the nation is on the road to recovery. A war in which more than a half-million American troops were fighting in Vietnam needed to be brought to an end. Hundreds of thousands of families were concerned about the drafting of young men for military service. President Nixon began to set in operation a different mechanism. Assurances have been given that the draft will be virtually eliminated next year, and already no draftees are being sent to Vietnam except on a voluntary basis.

The troubles in the mideast as well as the problems still remaining in Indochina are worrisome. But President Nixon initiated what he hopes will be a "generation of peace" not only through negotiations to settle the Vietnam war but by persuading the leaders of the Soviet Union and mainland China to adopt a more cooperative attitude. The first stens toward limiting nuclear arms were taken. Friendlier relations are being developed in Europe between the western and the communist countries. International trade is expanding.

But the tasks are far from completed. The American people indicated by their votes that they prefer to have the Nixon administration use its knowledge of the intricate questions involved abroad to attain peace in the world.

The simple fact is that the electorate doesn't like change during crucial times. The tendency is to retain an incumbent president who is competently handling current crises rather than to entrust the government to a new set of persons who might be well qualified in some respects but inexperienced and unfamiliar with the controversies themselves.

It has been asked often, as the campaign is discussed, just why the President did not help more Republicans to be elected to Congress and other offices. Although it is paradoxical, he involuntarily aided many Democrats. Senators and representatives who had hitherto supported important pieces of legislation sponsored by Mr. Nixon were able to show the record to their constituents. This was helpful in getting votes that might have gone to Republicans if party had been the prime consideration. A number of Democrats kept their seats largely because they have backed President Nixon in the House or the Senate, and Republicans in their districts may have felt that these men and women, too, should be returned to office.

The Democratic opponents were often unfair and slanderous in their attacks on Mr. Nixon. The President ignored this kind of behavior and doubtless felt that to engage in a debate on such matters would only publicize further many of the baseless charges which were being flung at him.

With a Congressional election coming up in 1974, Democrats will be careful what record they make in the session which begins in January. For it is probable that Mr. Nixon's strength with the voters will continue and that the campaign two years hence will be very specific with respect to measures that the administration will have proposed and wants to see enacted.

The biggest domestic problem the President has today is to put the fiscal affairs of the government on a stable basis. Federal deficits must be decreased and spending vigilantly watched so that taxpayers' money will be used effectively for needed programs and not squandered on projects of questionable worth. The reorganization which Mr. Nixon is trying to accomplish is really an attempt to apply brakes to governmental expenditures through shifts in personnel and agencies. The objective is to make the executive branch more efficient while reducing the federal payroll and cutting back or eliminating some programs that have not accomplished their purposes.

On Threshold of New Worlds

WASHINGTON — That precarious creature man is hovering on the threshold of new worlds so thrilling as to diminish everything that has gone before. The six Nobel prizes awarded to American scientists were a measure of the extraordinary pace of science not only here but elsewhere in the West.

At two extremes scientists are exploring the nature of man and his place in the universe. With new tools such as the electron microscope the innermost secrets of matter so long locked away are being revealed. The process of reproduction, the kaleidocopes of the chromosomes, the very stuff of life, is at the command of a new generation.

At the other extreme astronomers and astrophysicists are looking into the farthest reaches of the universe where space and time are measured in millions of light years. The breathtaking nature of what this can mean is only dimly understood by most of us balked by a language so abstruse, so dependent on the symbols of mathematics and physics, as to exclude all but the initiated.

But now and then there are glimpses comprehensible to the uninitiated. At an astronautical conference in Vienna an American scientist, Bernard M. Oliver, proposed a program for searching message from other planets. He suggested that thousands of stars with civilizations equal to or far in advance of our own may be trying to communicate with us, and, as Oliver put it, help us.

This is not science-fiction about green-headed little men in impossible space ships. It comes from a scientist who is a vice-president of Hewlett, Packard—the firm that has done so much electronic pioneering. Expounding the science of this daring proposal developed in an extended study last summer, Oliver says:

"Our estimates of the density of communicative life in the galaxy are very uncertain primarily because we do not know how long advanced races maintain an effort to communicate with one another. If, on the pessimistic side, we assume that no communication already exists and that other races like ourselves make occasional attempts at listening and sending, we may well have to search every likely star out to 1,000 light years. If, on the optimistic side, interstellar communication is an existing reality, communicative races may radiate beacons to attract new races to the galactic community and they may do this for millions of years. In this case we may detect other life closer than 100 light years. Or we may detect leakage signals within this range."

The cost, according to Oliver, would be perhaps half the cost of the Apollo program or about $6 billion; half the cost of the stunt of putting a man on the moon.

Last June a hundred leading astronomers, the Survey Committee of the National Academy of Sciences, declared that the secret of the birth, life and death of the universe five billion years ago is on the verge of being unraveled. They called for a big boost in the quest with earth orbiting observatories and satellites designed to study the sun and stars. The cost: $1.2 billion.

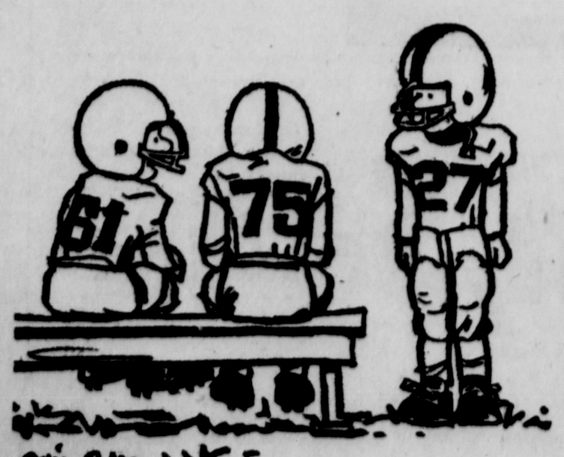

The other day in Boston a panel of scientists and theologians discussed whether earth men should bridge outer space and communicate with other worlds. The pessimists felt that earth men in their present primitive state might do more harm than good to those other worlds. But, as the past has shown, what science can do will be done whether for good or evil.

What does all this have to do with the grubby moment in which we live — With wars and crime and an election campaign marked by resounding apathy? It means that if reason prevails we can move beyond the mud that mires most of us on our little mud ball of a planet. We can reach for the stars.

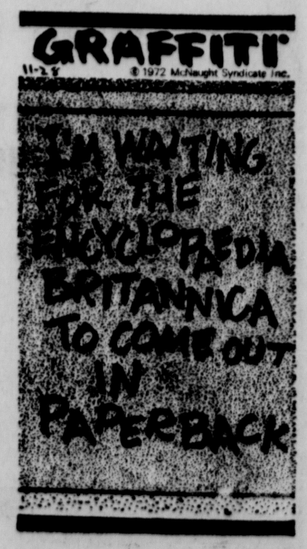

A lot of fancy and for the most part meretricious proposals have been batted up for America's 200th birthday in 1976. What could be better than dedication to a great project pushing back the barriers of knowledge so close to being breached. Imagine — this is fantasy, needless to say — talking with another star:

Yes, we are 200 years old and we believe we are still the last best hope of earth. What can you tell us out of your thousands of years of experience?

Hospital Expansion–X-Ray Complex

RHINEBECK

The latest expansion plan at Northern Dutchess Hospital to reach completion is the X-ray Department, previously composed of two small rooms and now working out of a nine-room complex.

New, highly efficient equipment has been added reflecting the progress the total hospital has been undergoing in its continuing expansion plan.

The new complex consists of a bright, spacious reception area and waiting room; three X-ray examination rooms (two with modern image intensifiers); an isotope room; and a "hot lab," where radioisotopes are stored for use in radiation therapy.

To realize the necessity for such expansion it can be noted that over a ten-year period the X-ray load went from 4,400 in 1962 to 10,000 in 1972.

Once required to do about 12 X-rays a day, the staff now completes from 30 to 40 per day, an increase of more than 300 per cent.

The most recent piece of equipment is the 600 milliampere X-ray machine, with sufficient power to obtain radiographs in a fraction of a second.

"This aspect," said Dr. Xavier Quintero-Chica, X-ray director, "is especially important for those who cannot stay immobile while the X-ray is being taken, such as small children, the elderly, or the unconscious patient."

The new machine has a greater element of safety protection against radiation. It also has a Tomograph attachment, which views an organ in "slices" . .. somewhat like slicing a loaf of bread and looking at each slice individually.

The machine also features an image intensifier that enables the radiologist to fluoroscope the patient without turning lights off.

Constantly in use at the hospital is the isotope unit, a Picker Magnascanner, which permits physician and technician to see the organs of the body through the use of radio-active materials which have been injected.

This is judged to be an invaluable aid in diagnosis of tumors and other diseases that cannot be detected through routine X-ray examination.

These radio-active materials are strictly controlled by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, with only authorized persons permitted to handle them.

Isotopes are protected by lead bricks and are continuously metered for level control. Even the walls are metered. The AEC sends inspectors periodically to see that specifications are rigidly followed, and the department must also receive approval from the New York State Health Department.

Typical of the organs on which the isotopes unit can obtain images are the brain, thyroid gland, lungs, heart, liver, kidney, and bones. Cancer in its early stages can be detected in these organs even before it produces symptoms. One example is a tumor of the bone, which can be detected earlier than any ordinary X-ray examination.

Since the Northern Dutchess X-ray unit operates on a seven-day 24 hour basis, the attending physician is likely to receive his requested X-ray report the same day he referred his patient, as opposed to a typical two or three day delay in many medical facilities.

In cases of emergencies the report is given immediately. Thus, the staff receives many referrals from physicians in Poughkeepsie, Kingston, Hyde Park, Newburgh, Hudson, and even New York City.

The X-ray staff is a veteran unit, consisting of Dr. Quintero, for three years; Chief X-ray Technician Richard Arnold, LXT and nuclear technician, with the hospital for eight years; Wayne Martin, LXT, a nine-year employe; Judy Costello, five years at NDH and an LXT and isotope technician; and Jean Pink, secretary, a seven-year employe, who types the comprehensive reports for use of the physician.

Named Senate House Trustee

ALBANY

The appointment of Mrs. James R. Myers of Woodstock as a trustee of the Senate Association has been announced by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Her term will run through Oct. 9, 1977. Trustees of the Senate House, a New York State historic site was where the New York Provincial Congress adopted the first New York State Constitution on April 20, 1777.

Mrs. Myers is presently chairman of the Stockade Committee seeking to provide a much needed resource unit and stockade script on a intermediate junior high level for area school children. The project is aimed at integrating Kingston area history with present day development, drawing on history, mathematics, economics, geography, climate anthropology and ecology.

Three years ago through the cooperation of the State University at New Paltz, Mrs. Myers reproduced stockade tour scripts and distributed for teacher use to 90 per cent of the schools in Ulster County and to Hyde Park.

A teacher for 12 years, Mrs. Myers also has coordinated library programs for elementary age school children through the Junior League of Kingston project and also served as a Stockade tour guide with the League for four years.

She is a member of Friends of Historic Kingston, Ulster County Historical Society, Historical Society of Woodstock, Woodstock Garden Club, Woodstock League of Women Voters and other community organizations. She is married to Attorney James R. Myers and they have two children, William and Elizabeth.

Report Borman Paid Peron $200 Million

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Express reported today that Martin Bormann found refuge in Argentina in 1948 by paying $200 million to then-dictator Juan D. Peron. But a spokesman for Peron said earlier that Argentina's former ruler knew nothing about Hitler's wartime deputy.

The Express published the second of a five-part series of articles by spy expert Ladislas Farago, who in the first article claimed Bormann is still alive at the age of 72 and has been living since early October on a ranch in northern Argentina owned by the Krupp family of West Germany.

Bormann was seen in Berlin in the final days of the war, and afterward there were unconfirmed reports that he died in the fighting, died a prisoner in Russia and escaped to South America.

Periodically he is reported seen in one South American country or another, but so far there has been no proof that he is still alive.

Farago in today's article in the Express reported:

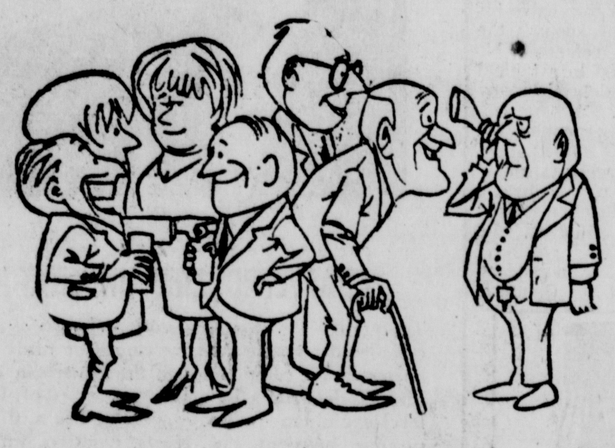

Bormann, realizing World War II would eventually be lost, secretly arranged for German ships and a submarine to deliver a huge treasure to Argentina in the final stages of the war in Europe.

The treasure — currency, jewels, platinum, art works and gold that was mostly taken from the teeth of Nazi concentration camp victims — was deposited in four Argentine banks under the name of Eva Duarte Ibarguren, Peron's mistress who became his wife in 1945.

Mrs. Peron made a trip to Europe in 1947, met Bormann in Rome and helped arrange his flight to Argentina. He arrived in Argentina by ship on May 17, 1948, with a passport issued to Eliezer Goldstein by the Vatican office for stateless persons.

By the end of 1948, Peron surrendered a fourth of the treasure to Bormann, retaining nearly $200 million for himself and his wife.

The Argentine federal police said Monday they are checking out Farago's reports, but they expressed doubt that they were true. The West German justice ministry also expressed "extreme reservations" about the stories. But a spokesman said the ministry would investigate the possibilities of extraditing Bormann if he was found.

Telephone Co. Checking 'Pro' Status

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Telephone Co. had agreed to begin checking the professional qualifications and licenses of persons listed in phone books throughout the state as physicians and psychologists.

The move came in response to a partial survey by the state attorney general's office indicating that nearly 10 per cent of the listings in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Nassau County were unlicensed persons.

Spurring the survey by the Bureau of Consumer Fraud and Protection were complaints from the New York State Medical Society and the state Psychological Association.

The Medical Society's complaint charged that a cursory examination of telephone directories revealed the names of "chiropractors, family counselors and other unlicensed persons."

In a letter to the state fraud bureau, disclosed Monday, the phone company said it would submit lists of current names in the physicians and psychologists categories, along with those new applicants, to the two professional organizations for verification.

A spokesman for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., covering most state phone systems, said there was no national policy of checking the professional credentials of directory listings.

Jail Guard, Nine Inmates Enter Innocent Pleas

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A guard and nine inmates at the Albany County jail have pleaded innocent to charges arising from the mass escape from the jail last month in which a dozen prisoners fled.

Patrick Murray, 60, of Cohoes, the guard, entered the innocent plea Monday at his arraignment before County Court Judge Martin Schenck on a first degree perjury count charging that he lied about the source of some of the money stolen from him by the inmates during the escape.

Also pleading innocent were nine inmates who have been returned to custody since the breakout. Three other escapees remain at large.

All inmates involved were charged with varying degrees of escape, and several with added charges of assault and robbery.

In total, $1,050 was allegedly taken from Murray during the jailbreak and about $1,000 more from four other guards.

District Attorney Arnold W. Proskin disclosed last week that an undercover agent employed by his office had been planted in the jail four days after the escape to aid in the investigation.

Authorities have not recovered two loaded .38-caliber revolvers stolen by the escapees during the jailbreak. One guard was hospitalized with head and neck injuries sustained in a scuffle with the prisoners.

Little Trouble

HONG KONG (UPI) — Military police seeking Pvt. Bernard Harvieu on charges of going absent without leave (AWOL) had little trouble finding him.

Driver Nabbed After Chase At High Speeds

KINGSTON

Harry W. Lane, 21, of Spring Lake, Kingston, was arrested on four charges early today after a high speed chase along Delaware Avenue that reached speeds up to 90 miles per hour.

A Kingston Police Department uniformed patrol reportedly spotted Lane's car proceeding south at a high rate of speed along Delaware Avenue at 1:48 a.m. and gave chase, finally overtaking him at the Abruyn Street intersection.

Lane was charged with driving while intoxicated, speeding, failure to produce registration, and failure to keep right. He was released on $200 bail for an appearance today in City Court.

Kingston Man Is Sentenced

TOWN OF WOODSTOCK

Harry Haslam, 23, of 7 Hanratty Street, Kingston, pleaded guilty Monday night in Town of Woodstock Justice Court to a charge of criminal trespass and was sentenced by Justice Rudolf C. Baumgarten to 15 days in the Ulster County Jail.

Haslam was originally charged with third degree burglary for allegedly entering the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hochman of Glasco Turnpike, Woodstock, on Nov. 23, shortly before the Hochmans returned home.

Baumgarten said the charge was reduced to criminal trespass at the suggestion of Assistant District Attorney Ellen Donovan because although Haslam was reportedly apprehended outside the house there was insufficent evidence to link him with the entry into the Hochman home.

New Date Set For Hearing

ROSENDALE

A public hearing scheduled for Wednesday night on proposed changes to the Town of Rosendale's Zoning Ordinance has been rescheduled for Dec. 12.

The Planning Board has recommended that certain areas of the zoning map be changed to a new A-1 designation to allow placement of mobile homes on one acre instead of 1.5 acre tracts of land.

The public hearing was delayed because sufficient notice had not been given, according to Town of Rosendale Supervisor Gerard DeFelicis.

The Dec. 12 hearing will begin at 7 p.m. at the Community Building in Maple Hill.

WILL HE BE HOME TONIGHT?

WILL YOU?

DRIVE SAFELY!

Each year the Holidays see automobile accidents hit their peak. Unusual precautions are called for to stop this wholesale slaughter at what should be one of the happiest times of the year. Don't have that 'one for the road' . . . don't drive at excessive speeds, start earlier . . . obey all signals and signs . . . don't drive in excessively bad weather . . . watch the other guy . . . as well as yourself.

Bursting With Construction

Dollar Banzai on Island of Guam

AGANA, Guam (AP) — Americans who last saw Guam destroyed by war would never recognize it. The island is bursting with construction. Land prices are soaring. And guess who's back making most of it happen?

Japanese, joined by Taiwan Chinese and South Koreans, are buying heavily into the palmy U.S. territory in the Western Pacific which talks of eventual statehood.

Responsible estimates say more than $200 million—well over half of new investment—is coming from Asian economies which were helped to post war health by public and private American capital.

A lot of it is in cash, slipped out of other countries around currency regulations.

It is America's first real taste of massive foreign investment at home after decades of dominance in other countries, economists say. It's transforming the island from a blend of Oahu and Appalachia into a multilingual Miami Beach.

In one project alone, Japan's Sobu Group is spending more than $20 million to push aside jungle and rusted tanks and build a hotel, a 36 hole golf course, country club, marina and apartment complex.

Asian money also is going into neighboring Micronesian islands held in trust by the United States under a U.N. mandate. There it is less obvious, but significant nonetheless.

On Guam, a Singapore-sized island, Chinese and Japanese speculators have bought large chunks of the one-third of land available for private ownership.

One unofficial estimate says Asians control three quarters of Guam's non-government land, even though technically no alien is permitted to buy land. Most use local residents as fronts.

Korean and Taiwan companies, usually with their governments' backing and some with past help by American business, are winning major Navy and government construction contracts in open bidding against U.S. competitors.

Of $185 million worth of hotel projects in the works, the overwhelming majority are Japanese. Nationalist Chinese and Japanese groups are developing private housing schemes for a critically short market.

"We're not too nervous yet," said Gov. Carlos G. Camacho in an interview," . . . but if control of financing is determined by the foreign investors . . . they can also control political and social aspects."

There are already private accusations that some officials make money on the side from the helter skelter investment flurry. Building permits this year totaled $2 million twice those of last year.

Guam's boom is based mainly on Japanese honeymooners who find it the closest tropical paradise to Tokyo and a cheap way of having visited the United States.

Tourists numbered 108,430 in fiscal 1972 and 87 per cent were Japanese. They spent $50 million. By 1977, the figures may quadruple. Hotel space is so tight sometimes two couples share a single room on their wedding night.

The United States took over Guam from Spain in 1898.

In December, 1941, Japan, having fortified neighboring islands, seized Guam by using fewer people than now arrive from Tokyo every two days in jumbo jets. U.S. bombing and shelling to recapture Guam left it flattened and scarred.

Now the island suffers from a split personality. There's a five-counter McDonalds—called the world's biggest hamburger stand—and weed-choked, rusting Quonset huts.

Giant naval installations and Anderson Air Force Base, with four nuclear storage sites, Polaris missiles and nearly 200 B52s, make Guam America's most potent bastion outside the States.

All Guam residents are U.S. citizens with every right except two—voting for President and having votes in Congress.

Some Guamanians and U.S. mainlanders call the situation healthy and encourage Asian money. Others foresee serious danger of over extending on a shaky base, especially when employers already import more cooks, laborers and supervisors than they can find among the islanders.

More conservative voices say Guam's development from all sides is being pushed out of shape, with utilities, public services, telephones and roads already badly overstretched.

Agana is developing a 10 story skyline after years of depending almost solely on military spending. Land along the beach can cost more than $200,000 an acre, many times what it was worth a few years ago.

John D. Gilliam, the Guam government's chief economist, says there are no official estimates of total investment because 'the carpetbag type of investment — the money originated in other countries and carried out in suitcases of one kind of another."

It is equally hard to guess what long term effect foreign investment will have on Guam.

"Well" said one governor's aide with a shrug "it's not Hawaii. But we're contented."

SIGNED BY RESCUERS — Lisa Tuttle, 17, points to the name of firemen who had aided her during the time she was trapped in the twisted wreckage of two Illinois Central Railroad trains that collided four weeks ago. Lisa and a friend, Patricia Wysmierski, were the last two survivors to be removed from the wreckage that claimed 45 lives. They are in a Chicago, Ill., hospital. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Civil Service Commission Lists Examination Date

KINGSTON — An open competitive examination for a superintendent of buildings and grounds will be held Jan. 27, according to announcement made today by the Ulster County Civil Service Commission.

At present, one vacancy exists in the New Paltz Central School District and one vacancy in the Marlboro School District.

The starting salary in New Paltz is $7,500 and in Marlboro, $8,400.

The last date for filing applications is Dec. 27. They may be secured from the commission at UPO Box 172, County Office Building, Kingston.

Candidates must have been legal residents of Ulster County for at least four months immediately preceding the date of the written test.

Requirements include graduation from high school and four years of experience in building maintenance activities at least two of which shall involved responsible supervisory work.

The written test will involve areas such as building maintenance and repair, building trades including electrical and mechanical, grounds maintenance, building cleaning practices and supervision.

Inaugurates

CAMP DAVID, Md. (UPI) — Speaking through a new communications satellite station, President Nixon has invited President Felix Houphouet-Boitny of the Ivory Coast to visit the United States.

Nixon talked with the African leader for five minutes Monday to inaugurate the station, which is located in the Ivory Coast. Nixon spoke in English through an interpreter.

Now. Fayva in Kingston-the first family shoe store that sells only the most wanted, up-to-the-minute fashion shoes for dollars less!

GRAND OPENING NOW!

No seconds, No irregulars... Not Ever!

You'll only find first quality shoes at Fayva. We wouldn't think of selling you second-best... no matter what the price.

Most women's shoes from $6.60 to $16.90

How does Fayva differ from all other shoe stores?

At Fayva, you'll never find old or unwanted shoes. Fayva sells only the most desirable, up-to-the-minute fashion styles for men, women, and children. (Other self-service shoe stores may give you selection, but thousands of their shoes are leftover styles from last season, last year or even older.)

Fayva's buyers constantly come up with exciting new selections. So Fayva gets new shoe styles weekly. (Conventional shoe stores get new shoes just a few times a year.)

If you want the freshest looks afoot, for dollars less, forget all other shoe stores. Come discover Fayva, where there's always something new. And that makes quite a difference!

Most men's shoes from $8.90 to $21.90

FREE! 2 BOXES OF CHRISTMAS CARDS OR...

FREE SLIPPERS...

Our grand opening gifts to you!
Choose any two boxes of beautiful Christmas cards or a pair of cozy, warm house slippers for any member of the family.
Cards or slippers given free with every shoe purchase.
Hurry, special offer ends Saturday, December 2.

New arrivals daily!

From Italy, Spain, Brazil . . . wherever fashion happens!

Every time you shop at Fayva you'll find new styles you didn't see before.
All displayed conveniently by size. Fantastic imports. Freshest looks from leading American designers. And special purchases of name brand shoes, but only when the styles meet Fayva's up-to-the-minute fashion standards. Remember, other shoe stores change with the season. Only Fayva changes every week.

Ulster Board of Elections ...Full-Time Commissioners

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Ulster County, which has been operating its Board of Elections with two part-time commissioners, one a Republican, the other a Democrat, will move into the full-time commissioner system with each political party appointing one person to two new $12,000 a year posts.

At the present time, Republican Seymour Werbalowsky and Democrat Joseph Epstein serve as part-time commissioners at salaries of $3,500 each year. In the 1973 preliminary budget, are shown requests for $5,000 each for part-time commissioners but the Finance Committee has recommended the two full-time posts instead.

It is also anticipated that the present administrative assistant for the Board of Elections, Edwin Callahan, will be named the Republican commissioner replacing Werbalowsky inasmuch as Callahan's present salary is not included in the 1973 budget even though a request was submitted to raise his present $8,750 salary to $9,179. Werbalowsky is a Kingston attorney.

Meanwhile, Epstein, a downtown Kingston news dealer, told The Freeman that he is "definetely interested" in the full-time $12,000 post.

Epstein has been in the part-time position since January, 1939 and Werbalowsky became part-time commissioner September, 1952.

Callahan assumed his position as administrative assistant in June of 1971.

He had previously been employed as a store manager for Singer Sewing Machine Company and was employed by Prudential Insurance for 22 years.

Callahan is vice chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee, and chairman of the Town of Ulster Republican Committee.

Active in community affairs, he was Town of Ulster March of Dimes chairman for three years, worked on the Town of Ulster Cancer Crusade, City of Kingston Little League, Town of Ulster American Legion and is a charter member of the Spring Lake Fire Department.

He and his wife, Irene are the parents of five daughters and reside in Elmendorf Heights.

Assessors' Program

While Robert Janeski (R), an instructor with the New York State Board of Equalization and Assessments, offers advice, four town assessors study their instruction booklets during Phase II of the assessors' training program Monday. Twenty-one assessors from throughout the county will participate in the program, which runs through Dec. 1 at the Ulster County Office Bldg. The four assessors (L) shown here are: Joseph Lohamier, Town of Ulster; Joseph A. Carcaramo, Town of Kingston; William J. Zacher, Town of Esopus and Walter Tatarzewski, City of Kingston. Also participating in the program is Jack G. Reynolds, director of Ulster County's Real Property Tax Service Agency. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Health Officials Note Pneumonia Rise

KINGSTON

While state health officials are carefully watching for the "invisible flu bug," local Ulster County Health officials are noting between 70 and 90 cases of pneumonia a month and are awaiting the usual three-month illness peak that occurs annually during January, February and March.

That is when the flu bug usually hits, according to Dr. John B. Plass, acting health commissioner who advised that the issuance of flu shots is between the patient and his or her own personal physician.

Dr. Plass noted that the pneumonia cases have started early this year but that there is no noticable increase in flu histories than is normal for this time.

A number of groups in the community do receive flu shots as well as those individuals who seek them from their own physicians. Among those groups are employes of the Department of Social Services, residents of the County Infirmary, New York State Troopers and workers in various industries.

At one time all county employes could receive the shots if they desired, under county sponsorship, but the practice was discontinued during the past several years.

Meanwhile, the state predicts that the inevitable "flu season" is likely to hit soon. Absenteeism rates at 100 selected schools and industries are now being charted for indications of the possible intrusion of the disease.

The program to combat influenza uses two prime weapons — weekly surveillance and limited immunization, according to Dr. Hollis Ingraham, state health commissioner.

"The influenza, which has appeared overseas this autumn, has been caused by a type of virus closely relatee to the Hong Kong virus. Vaccines now available should be some protection against this strain," Ingraham said.

The elderly and persons with chronic heart or respiratory disease should be immunized against the flu, he said.

Persons who contact the flu should consult a doctor, drink plenty of liquids and get plenty of bed rest, the health commissioner recommended.

"Attempting to fight this disease on your feet is not particularly advisable as it might lead to serious complications such as pneumonia and would certainly contribute to the spread of flu to others," he concluded.

Insurance Department Defines 'Fair Treatment'

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — More than two years after the legislature passed a law designed to insure fair treatment of insurance claims, the state Insurance Department has issued regulations spelling out what fair treatment means.

The new rules require insurance companies to investigate claims within three weeks and notify policyholders within that time whether the claim is being paid, denied or further investigated.

In a statement issued when the rules were announced Monday, Insurance Supt. Benjamin Schenck said his department had decided new regulations were necessary because "no specific guidelines have existed to define what is fair and not fair."

Although the 1970 law involved was designed to enable the department to fine companies which engage in unfair practices, only one such fine has been levied. A department spokesman said one reason there had not been more enforcement actions was that standards of fairness had not been clearly spelled out.

Under the new rules, any claim filed must be investigated within 15 working days, and if the company decides further investigation is necessary, it must so notify the policyholder. The policyholder must be notified of the final decision within 90 days.

If a claim is denied, the company must provide a written statement referring to the specific policy provisions under which the denial is being made.

Payment is to be made not later than five working days after the policyholder agrees to the settlement offered by the company.

And undisputed portions of a claim must be paid while haggling over any disputed portion continues.

Dutchess Day Care Center . . . 'Flourishing Project'

RED HOOK

The kids at Northern Dutchess Day Care Center don't just sit around and play with blocks.

The Center is flourishing, with an all-time high enrollment and relative newcomer director Jackie Curtis.

Some trips taken during the past month include a visit to the Van Crest Chicken farm; a cider mill in Poughkeepsie; the Red Hook Veterinary Clinic; the New York State Fire Fighter's museum; Jug Hill at Clinton Corners; and the Bard College Science Building and Art Center.

Of course a few holidays, Halloween and Thanksgiving, were celebrated in true fashion by painting pumpkins and enjoying a sumptous feast.

Taking nature walks is a common occurence, noting the changes wrought by the seasons, and the kids have been collecting animal facsimiles for a science table and building a fire engine. One day they all went over to the Red Hook Public Library and enjoyed the story hour.

The Center has seen some changes, having been started only about two years ago, and is now a United Way agency for Dutchess County.

It is a school that children enjoy attending, as would most 3-5 year olds. This reporter knows, as his has been in attendance for more than a year.

Area BOCES Facilities Open Tonight

The BOCES vocational program is representative of Saugerties, Onteora, Kingston, New Paltz, Rondout Valley, Ellenville, Highland and Wallkill School Districts.

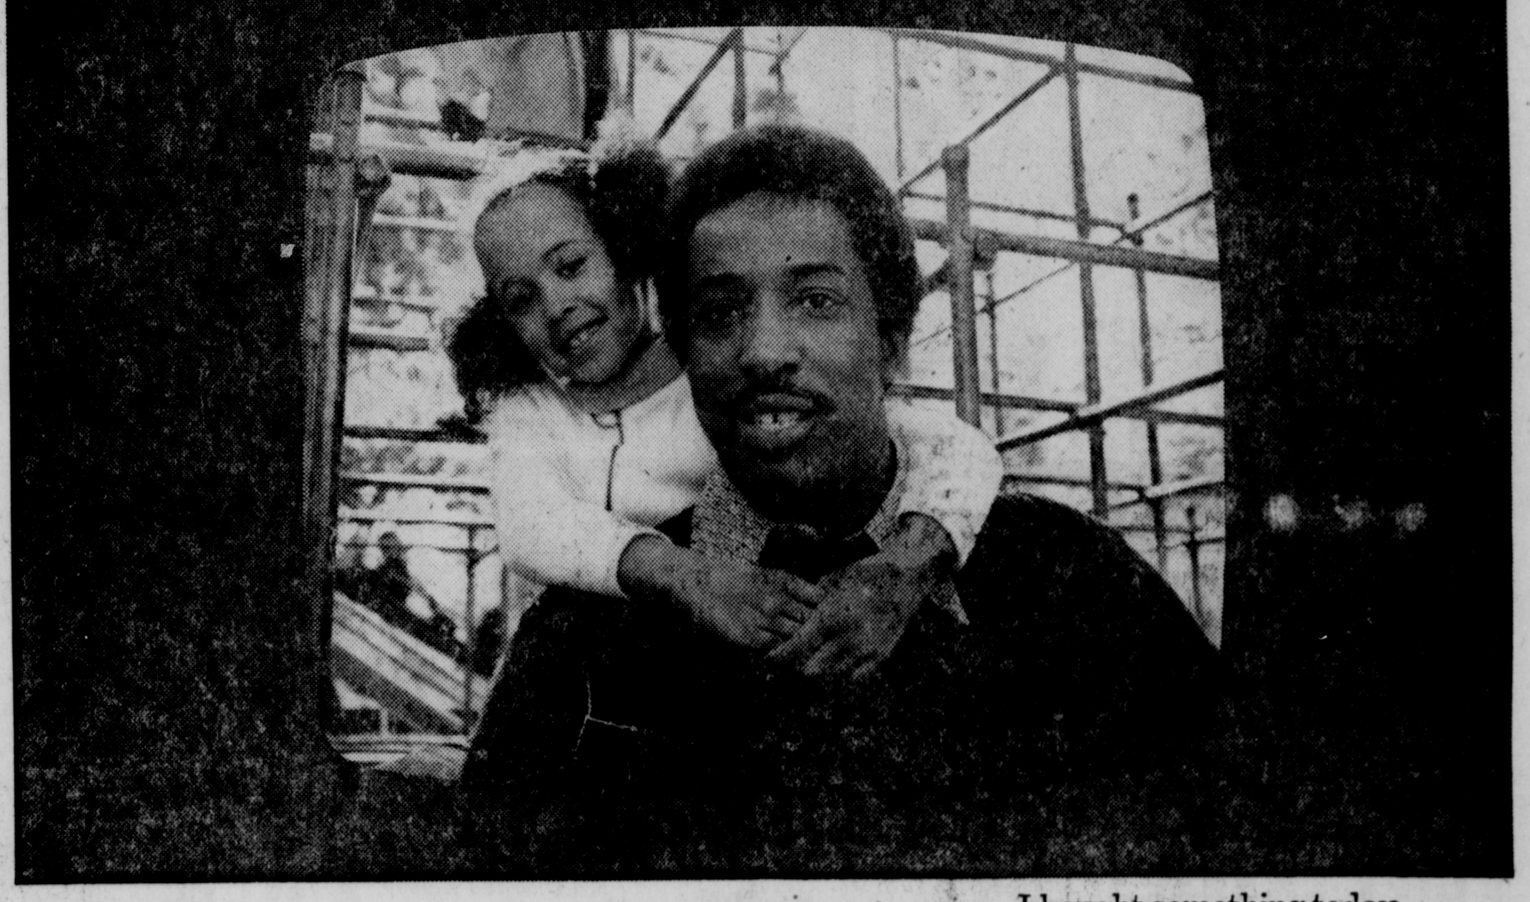

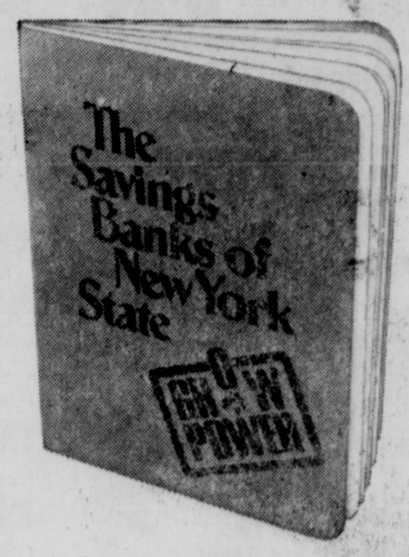

"Who offers me life insurance I can afford?

My savings bank!"

I bought something today I thought I couldn't afford. Life insurance. Low-cost life insurance...from my savings bank.

Those savings banks are amazing. They arrange mortgages, home improvement loans, student loans, a variety of savings plans and other services—even low-cost life insurance. And no other bank does that.

There are other banks where the emphasis is strong on business. At a savings bank it's more on people and the things people need for themselves and their families.

Like life insurance I can afford.

They're amazing.

Rondout Valley Drama Club Slates Full-Length Film

KYSERIKE MASQUE, the drama club at Rondout Valley High School, will present the full-length feature film, "Bridge on the River Kwai," in the RVHS auditorium Friday, Dec. 1, at 7:30 p.m.

The film stars Alec Guiness and William Holden. As an added attraction, chapter one of a serial entitled "Fighting with Kit Carson" will also be shown.

MASQUE, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Marian Eckert of the English department, is trying to raise funds for drama field trips and also to purchase scripts for future one-act plays. Tickets are 75 cents for the Dec. 1 show.

THE ROAD TO SUCCESS

The road to success is filled with pitfalls, many of which stem from one's inability to control mental and emotional faculties; inabilities which manifest themselves in lack of decisive self expression, paralyzing fear, lack of confidence in decision making.

The success road is difficult to follow for some people—with the right move or decision perpetually evading their grasp by the barest of margins. Why will two people, equal in intelligence, equal in education, equal in opportunity, each reach different destinations? Why will one succeed and one fail? Why will only 5% of the people today achieve the goals and dreams in life that they have set out to achieve?

Perhaps Dale Carnegie said it best many years ago when he made a simple but succinct observation on human nature. Carnegie said, "I know men in the ranks who are going to stay in the ranks. Why,—I'll tell you why—Simply because they have't the ability to get things done." Come and take the DALE CARNEGIE COURSE—you'll get things done—you'll learn to:

- ★ Develop greater poise and self confidence
- ★ Make sound decisions
- ★ Develop a better memory
- ★ Effectively communicate ideas
- ★ Improve your human relations
- ★ Control fear and worry

Nearly two million people from all walks of life have taken advantage of this training since it began over sixty years ago. Who are they? Where do you find them? Look for people who get things done.

Harlem Co-op Supermarket Successful

NEW YORK (AP) — Anger, hatred and frustration boiling inside them, a group of angry young blacks fired rocks at the front window of a white-owned Harlem supermarket during the summer riots of 1964.

Dashing through the shattered glass to loot the store, they might have thought of their bitter complaints against Harlem supermarkets: high prices and inferior products in stores owned by whites who did not live in the predominantly black community.

Eight years later the group could walk with pride into another store in Harlem, a place where they felt they could buy decent food at fair prices, a black-owned cooperative supermarket started in response to the rioting.

Opening in June, 1968, the Harlem River Consumers Cooperative did well for almost a year, until a strike threatened to put it out of business. But a federal court injunction ended the strike in November, 1970, and the supermarket has been increasing its stockholdings and gross sales ever since and appears on its way to success.

Unlike single-ownership businesses, the supermarket's cooperative set-up gives each stockholder a stake in the store's success, developing a feeling of pride among shoppers that "This is our store," an important factor in the store's survival during the strike.

This sort of pride continues to attract customers. "The fact that it's black-owned attracts me," explains Mrs. J. Hill, a stockholder. "It was something that we needed in the neighborhood...something we can be proud of ...getting into our own business rather than depending on stores run by white people."

"We as black people should stick together," says Mrs. Ruth Inniss in explaining why she shops at the store.

To avoid potential bitterness and misunderstanding, the supermarket has a policy of answering questions and complaints, according to the central figure behind the supermarket, Mrs. Cora Walker, a black lawyer who did not live in Harlem but gave up her successful negligence law practice there to get involved in some of the social problems that caused the riots.

Prices often seem too high in white-owned Harlem supermarkets, she explains, sometimes because the supermarkets want to take advantage of Harlem shoppers—thus the co-op has tried to establish fairer prices and force down exorbitant ones in other supermarkets.

She adds that supermarkets also simetimes charge high prices, not to cheat anyone, but merely to survive and make a fair profit. But they do not explain that to customers, she says, so bitterness and misunderstanding crop up, sometimes in the form of broken windows and vandalism.

Being a kind of community effort, the supermarket has also set up a job-training program to prepare unemployed, unskilled Harlem residents for jobs in the store.

Mrs. Walker emphasizes that the co-op has not been funded by outside sources. "We didn't want any handouts. We didn't want any donations...We didn't need a study made of this particular problem. We know it—poor quality food, high prices, the consumer problems we've all heard for years."

So the store cannot have a massive, federally-sponsored program, nor can it sell food at extremely low prices. But other co-ops set up and funded by outsiders in low-income, inner-city areas have failed, she argues, because community residents have not been involved in them.

Involvement sometimes includes the volunteered skills of stockholders. Thomas Grant is a carpenter, so he provides technical assistance, such as when new shelves are being put up. And other stockholders and shoppers frequently provide volunteer help at the store.

Each stockholder, regardless of the amount of stock owned, gets a 3 per cent rebate on all purchases, and stock pays a 25-cent dividend a year per share.

Finch Corp. Attacking 'City Sex'

NEW YORK (UPI) —A firm headed by Edward R. Finch uncle of President Nixon's son-in-law, said Monday it would shut down sex-oriented book stores, peep shows and a movie house operating on its properties in the Times Square area.

Finch is the uncle of Edward Finch Cox, husband of President Nixon's daughter Tricia.

A spokesman for the Finch Corp. said the first shuttering would occur in the next few days when the Peepalive is closed down. The Peepalive features sex books and a live peep show.

That will be followed by shutting down before the end of the year two other establishments which sell books and sex devices and offer peep shows, the spokesman said.

A male homosexual movie theater will be closed by March 31, 1973, the spokesman said. The closings follow lengthy litigation to end what was described by a Finch Corp. statement as "illegal occupation of premises by these pornographers..."

William Bardel, director of the Mayor's Office for Midtown Planning, said the shutdowns were a "significant step" in cleaning up the Midtown area.

Penn Reports $7.1 Million Net Loss

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (UPI)— The bankrupt Penn Central Railroad Monday reported a net loss of $7.1 million for October, compared with $25.3 million for the same month a year ago.

The report by the trustees of the Penn Central Transportation Co. said the total loss for the first 10 months of this year was $183.1 million. The railroad lost $220.9 million during the first 10 months of 1971.

The trustees, in the report to Federal Court Judge John P. Fullam, who is overseeing reorganization of the railroad, said the October results were adversely affected by an increase of $3.8 million in labor costs.

They said increases in freight rates, effective Oct. 23, only slightly offset the higher labor costs resulting from a 5 per cent wage increase which automatically went into effect in October.

Mount Marion P-TA to Meet

MT. MARION

Mount Marion P-TA will meet Wednesday, Nov. 29 at 7:30 p. m. Saugerties Senior High Concert Band will perform.

P-TA members will vote on what to purchase for Mt. Marion School with the proceeds from a carnival.

Officers for the year include: president Barbara Thrush; vice president Shirley MacLaren; secretary Rosemary Ligano; treasurer Betty Budick; home room mothers representatives Marge Pfeiffer and Dorothy Smodek; teachers representative AnnMarie Simmons and hospitality Wendy Christiana.

Deadly Storm

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The National Weather Service said Monday that a storm in the Gulf of Alaska touched off the crashing, deadly waves on the coast of California, Oregon and Washington.

Law enforcement agencies said the weekend combers killed a half dozen persons. Three of the victims were killed by logs tossed against beaches.

Conrad Traetzel of the National Weather Service said the Alaska storm occurred Friday and dissipated. But, he said, it generated "quite intense" wave action along the coast 48 hours later.

JUNE PAUKER

UCCC Concert Soloist

June Pauker, well know soprano, will appear as guest soloist for the Winter Concert the Music Department at Ulster County Community College will present at 8 p.m. on Sunday, Dec 10, in the Quimby auditorium on the Stone Ridge campus

Also participating in the concert will be the UCCC College Chorus, directed by Richard Olsen, chairman of the Music Department; and the Hudson Valley Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of Matthew Crisp, Associate Professor of Music at Ulster.

"Mrs. Pauker has an excellent professional background and will be a definite asset for our concert," said Professor Olsen.

She has sung at numerous recitals in the Kingston and Woodstock area and last was heard locally in August as guest artist for the Onteora Summer Chorus.

Mrs. Pauker is a protege of the late Hanus Schimmerling in Woodstock and first was heard in a full-length recital of songs in eight languages. She has toured colleges an lecture-recital programs and has appeared on Radio Station WNYC in New York City.

Included in her background are concerts as guest artist at the Austrian and Czechoslovakian Embassies in New York. Locally she has appeared as soloist at the Fair Street Reformed Church and Temple Emanuel in Kingston.

In 1970, Mrs. Pauker auditioned and was accepted as a member of the famous New York Choral Society, whose conductor is the renowned composer-arranger, Robert DeCormier. This group has given concerts in Philharmonic Hall, Lincoln Center, the Cathedral of St. John the Devine and other famous churches in the metropolitan area as well as appearing at the tree lighting ceremony in Rockefeller Center. This group also performed the "Mass in B Minor" at Lincoln Center with Roger Wagner, of California, director of the Roger Wagner Chorale, as guest conductor.

Mrs. Pauker now studies with Robert White in New York City, having been recommended to him through Leonard Rose, internationally known cellist for the Isaac Stern trio.

Altar-Rosary Society Meets

The monthly meeting of St. Joseph's Altar Roasry Society was held recenty with Mrs. Louis Misasi, president presiding.

Mrs. Kenneth Decker read a letter from Sr. Mary Patricia thanking all the members for hosting the affair of Church Women United held in St. Joseph's Mission Church, Hurley, on November 3rd.

The annual Christmas party will be held at the Kirkland Hotel on Tuesday, Dec. 5 at 7 p.m. The Women's Barbershop Quartet will offer the entertainment for this event. For reservations, members are asked to contact Mrs. Donald Sweeney or Mrs. Bernard O'Malley.

Father Pizzuto then read a letter from St. John the Evangelist Womens Guild, Rte. 212, Centerville, inviting anyone interested to attend a program to be given by Mrs. Maria Saraco, Directoress of St. Michael's Garabandal Center of Our Lady of Carmel, Brockton, Mass., to be held on Tuesday evening, Nov. 28.

The society voted to purchase and distribute Christmas gifts to a needy organization. Mrs. Franklin Fuller is chairman of this project

Father Pizzuto stated that articles for the annual Thanksgiving collection will be accepted at 245 Wall St from 1 to 3 in the afternoon and 7 to 8 in the evenings up to December 3rd.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Donald Sweeney, Mrs. Mary McCafferty and Mrs. Albert Hutton.

Mrs. Lois Kupek then gave a talk on the art of flower arranging and displayed many beautiful arrangments.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE

Dear Heloise:

My Dad lives in Mexico and selecting a gift is very difficult because there are so few things I can send him without duty. This is true for many foreign countries.

So I have address labels made (and have extra ones made for me at the same time).

Foreign addresses are so long and we both benefit from the labels.

Bunnie

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Save time and mess! I mix my ground beef for meat balls and meat loaf on the paper in which it's wrapped when I bring it from the grocery store.

This permits me to spread the meat out for faster and more even seasoning.

It saves a mixing bowl and when finished I simply throw the meat wrapping in the trash can and my counter is clean.

Nancy Buoni

Dear Heloise:

I just finished making eight place mats for a wedding gift. I bought 60-inch wide white polyester double knit, plus one and three-fourths-inch wide white nylon lace hem facing for the border. Then I mitered the corners and stitched the lace to the top of the mats.

They are lovely as well as practical. I believe white or colors would make lovely tablecloths and perhaps even pillow slips could be made from the lovely double knits.

EVA MORRIS

Your idea sounds like a beautiful one, so easy to care for, just throw in the washer.

HELOISE

Dear Heloise:

Reminiscing about a chuck wagon supper we attended at one time prompted me to write you this note.

After everyone had finished eating, the hostess asked how we liked the foil-wrapped "baked" potatoes.

We were so surprised to discover that the potatoes actually were not baked at all but wrapped in aluminum foil and boiled until tender.

The foil kept them from popping open.

They were delicious with butter.

Friday Dance Is Set

The Lefooters Square Dance Club will sponsor a square dance on Friday, Dec. 1, with club Caller Cliff Brodeur of Pittsfield, Mass., doing the calling. The dance will start at 8 p.m. and this week it will be held at the West Hurley Elementary School, off Route 28 in West Hurley. This change was necessary due to a prior commitment at the Lefooters' regular hall. Cliff Brodeur is making his monthly appearance with the Lefooters and the club is looking forward to another evening of square dancing. All club level dancers are invited to attend the dance.

Club Chairmen, Warren and Juanita Mann, have announced that at the Club's annual Christmas party, to be held December 15, there will be a festive covered dish supper precedng the dance, starting at approximately 6:30 p.m. The Manns report that response to this new renewal of an old idea has been enthusiastic and that club members are eagerly looking forward to the event. Also at the Christmas party will be the annual gifts to the "Toys for Tots" drive in which the Lefooters participate each Christmas season.

If directions to the school are needed, members should contact the Robertos, the Coltons or the Rhodeses in West Hurley.

Widower Wants Widow on Cruise

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

[© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: Widowed five years after a long and happy marriage, I've found a widow I desperately want to marry. And that's my problem. She refuses to marry me.

I am about average in all respects except one. Financially, I am very well off, but that doesn't seem to influence her. We both have married children who are independent. I never knew this lady's husband, but understand theirs was a good marriage, so I know she's not soured on marriage.

She says she wants her "freedom." I have tried everything to change her mind. My last attempt was a two-carat diamond, which she refused to wear, even on her right hand because of the "implications" (whatever that means).

I want to take her on a cruise in December. She said she would go—sans marriage, but how proud and happy she would make me if she would accompany me as my wife.

How can I persuade her to marry me by December? If any of your ideas are successful, I will send you a postcard from Rome—the first stop on the cruise.

HOPING

DEAR HOPING: My advice to you is to go on the cruise alone. Send me a postcard anyway, if you have time to write one, which I'll bet against. No man should have to beg or bribe a woman to marry him, so get off your knees and survey the market. Your only chance for winning this woman is to play the field and show some dignified independence. And if that fails, you could be lucky.

DEAR ABBY: Is there any way a woman can buy insurance on her husband's life without letting him know about it?

I know he would have to take a physical and there's no way of tricking him into doing it.

My husband has a real hangup on this score and we can't even discuss the matter intelligently.

I can't shop around in my hometown for an insurance company that might have an angle on how to accomplish this as I have too much pride to admit to the world that my husband doesn't want to provide for his wife and children in the event of his death.

Please answer this in your column as I'm sure other wives must have the same problem.

ASHAMED AND NOT PROTECTED

DEAR ASHAMED: There is no way you can accomplish this without your husband's signature. Discuss this with your own insurance agent and ask him to suggest an approach that will be effective and ineffensive to your husband.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for "Out of Excuses" who recently wrote of her concern for her 69-year-old father who continued to drive even tho he has failing eyesight.

My staff in the Department of Motor Vehicles handles hundreds of these cases each year, so we understand what "Out of Excuses" and her father are going thru. Since he refuses to go for a visual examination, you can arrange for him to take a test of his driving ability and knowledge.

Write to your State Department of Motor Vehicles outlining the problem and in most cases that department will send him a letter requiring him to appear for a re-examination of his driving ability. If it appears necessary, a visual examination by competent authorities will also be required. Your communication will be held in confidence.

Mendelssohn Club Slates Concert

PREPARING FOR CONCERTS by the Mendelssohn Club of Kingston are (L-R) William Lanier, treasurer of the club; Richard Uhler, secretary; William Arensman, vice president; and Edward Sprute, president. Public is invited to attend the announced schedule of appearances. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Concurrent with election of officers for the 1972-73 season, the Mendelssohn Club today announced it's fall concert schedule. The first of a series of four concerts will be presented at the New Hurley Reformed Church on Wednesday, Dec. 6. The Club will appear the following Monday, Dec. 11 at the Old Dutch Church in Kingston. Then on Friday, Dec. 15, a "mini-concert" will be given at the Heritage Savings Bank in Kingston. For the final concert of the year the Club will travel to the Presbyterian Church in Pleasant Valley on Monday, Dec. 18.

Three church concerts featuring the Mendelssohn Club, Soprano Gloria Haarbeye as guest soloist and Mrs. Ann Rylance as accompanist, will start at 8 o'clock. The concert at the bank will start at 7 o'clock. Daniel Lee Hooper, young pianist who appeared as guest soloist at the Mendelssohn spring concert, will rejoin the club as accompanist for the bank concert.

Local friends of Mendelssohn are urged to attend either the Old Dutch Church or the Heritage Bank concerts or both. Director J. Anthony (Andy) Hummel promises an outstanding program made up of both light and serious music.

Woman's Club Sets Rummage Sale Date

A rummage sale organized by the Woman's Club of Saugerties will take place Friday and Saturday, Dec. 8 and 9, at the Republican Headquarters, Partition Street, Saugerties. The hours of the sale are 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Friday; and from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Saturday.

This project will benefit the Memorial Scholarship Fund. Each year the Woman's Club offers a scholarship to a deserviug female graduate of Saugerties Senior High School so that she may further her education.

Mrs. Robert Anderson, ways and means chairman is now accepting donations; she may be reached at Mount Mation Inn. A wide variety of items will be available at the sale.

Assisting Mrs. Anderson are club members; Mrs. Edward Jabs, Mrs. Joseph Kramer, Mrs. Donald Simmons, and Mrs. Esmond Vedder.

William Becks Wed 25 Years

Mr. and Mrs. William Beck of 29 Park Drive, Woodstock, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a gala surprise party at their home recently. The occasion was hosted by their daughter and their future son-in-law and his mother, Michael Naccarato and Mrs. John Naccarato of Kingston.

Married Nov. 1, 1947, Mr. and Mrs. Beck have three children: William, Eileen and Thomas. Mr. Beck is employed in the construction field.

The couple received many congratulatory gifts and messages from more than 40 family members and friends attending the silver anniversary celebration.

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

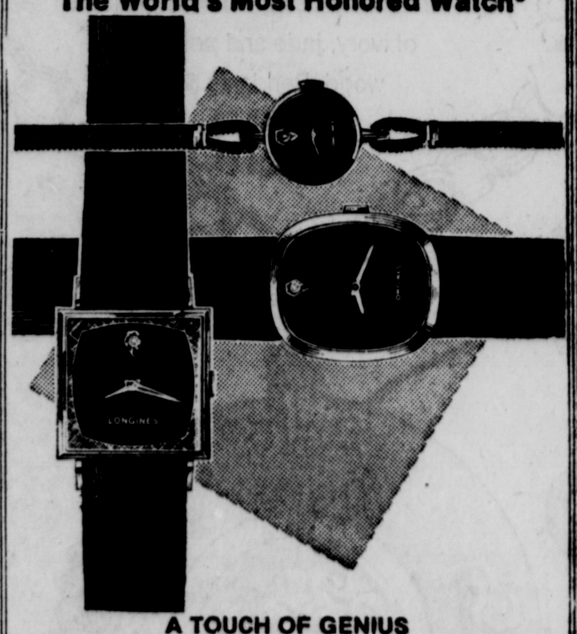

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin®.

Rummage Sale

At the November 21 meeting of Trinity Lutheran Women's Guild, members decided to have a rummage sale to dispose of the large accumulation of clothes and household items which have been brought to the church. A table of Christmas cards and candy will also be featured. Details will be announced.

The Women's Guild and Trinity Ladies Aid will hold a joint covered dish supper and Christmas party at the church on Wednesday, Dec. 6. Guests are welcome.

Mrs. Arthur Britt, president, conducted the business meeting. She announced that the Harvest Festival and Chicken Barbecue held last month was a successful event. Appreciaton was extended to church members as well as to those in the community who participated in the bazaar. Proceeds are being used for church repairs.

Mrs. Mary Diehl was hostess at the social hour.

Christmas Dinner

Plans for the annual Christmas dinner were made at a recent meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bloomington Fire Company. The dinner will take place Tuesday, Dec. 19 at 7 p.m. at the Chalet Lounge in Rosendale. A hot and cold buffet is planned. Reservations should be made with Fran Yonnetti or Barbara Schmidt by December 12.

Heading the group for 1973 will be Mary Fuggazi, president; Sally Gray, vice president; Barbara Gentles, treasurer; and Fran Yonetti, secretary.

Workshop Session

The Saugerties Society of Little Gardens held a workshop session November 15 at Saugerties Methodist Church. A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. John Whritenor, president, prior to the workshop. At this time, two new members, Mrs. William C. Johnson Jr. and Mrs. Richard A. Cyr, were welcomed into the club, and an associate member, Mrs. Lewis Gaylord, was welcomed back into active membership.

During the workshop approximately 100 dried arrangements were made. These were delivered to Ulster County Infirmary by Mrs. Michael Mattia, Miss Jane Ziegler and Mrs. William Waldele. They were placed on the patients' trays for Thanksgiving. As the arrangements are made of dried materials, they may be kept in the rooms indefinitely.

The next meeting is planned for Wednesday, Dec. 6 at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Daniel Lamb, Market Street. This is the annual Christmas meeting and each member is asked to bring a gift for exchange.

HELLENIC WOMEN'S CLUB of St. George Church, Greenkill Avenue, Kingston, will hold its annual holiday bazaar and pastry sale on Saturday, Dec. 2 from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Sunday, Dec. 3 from 1 to 4 p. m. A Greek luncheon will be served both days. Among those serving on the committee are (L-R) Maria Thomas, Rae Maouris and Marie Matthews. Public is invited to attend. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIABETH L. POST

(© 1972 Emily Post Institute, Inc.)

Dear Mrs. Post:

I was divorced some years ago and have not remarried. My husband did not remarry either. He passed away recently and I am wondering what should I be called — a widow or a divorcee? I believe either is correct, but would like to know for certain. Would you please advise me?

ALICE

Dear Alice:

Since you had been divorced, and therefore were no longer a wife when your husband died, you are still a divorcee — not a widow. A widow, according to the dictionary, is "a woman who has lost her husband by death," but the man you had been married to was not, at the time of his death, your husband.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post:

My father is in a nursing home and is completely disabled, both physically and mentally. My mother is alive and well. In December they will have been married fifty years. Should we celebrate the occasion in any way?

SUE

Dear Sue:

Obviously, your father could not participate in any celebration. However, for your mother, her fiftieth anniversary is still a special occasion. You might make it a happier one for her by having her, possibly a close friend or two, to dinner, and, if you wish, to a play, a concert, or whatever she would most enjoy.

* * *

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Daily Freeman, and don't forget to include your name and address.

St. Nicholas Coming!

The Ride of St. Nicholas will take place at the Old Dutch Church, corner of Wall and Main Streets, Tuesday evening, December 5 beginning promptly at 7 p.m.

Members of the congregation of the Old Dutch Church will again be bringing this classic event to the residents of Kingston and the surrounding area. Once again St. Nick and his friend, Black Peter, will arrive to bring candy to the children in attendance.

It is hoped that families will attend this interesting presentation. All those attending the event will be able to participate in the singing of Christmas carols. All choirs from the church will be singing and the Handbell Choir will also play, weather permitting.

Nettles to Yanks; Agee to Astros; Rose Next?

The Owners Go to Market

HONOLULU (UPI)—Twenty ballplayers, including some pretty fair country ones like Graig Nettles, Tommie Agee and Matty Alou, have been peddled already at these winter baseball meetings, and what would you say if the next name thrown at you is Pete Rose?

Bob Howsam didn't say anything when the name was thrown at him. He didn't say anything for a moment, anyway.

Howsam, the Cincinnati Reds' general manager, is Pete Rose's employer. He doesn't run and hide like some other general managers at the prospect of making big deals. If your memory is in good working order, you'll remember he made the biggest deal of last year's meetings at Phoenix, Arizona, when he came up with little Joe Morgan from the Houston Astros and gave them Lee May and Tommy Helms in an eight-player swap.

"I don't plan to trade him," said Howsam, talking about Rose, his switch-hitting, head-sliding "Charlie hustlee," who didn't have one of his usual good years this past season but still batted .307, knocked in 57 runs and hit six homers.

But what if some club asked about Rose, as one has done already?

"I'd look at the deal," Howsam conceded. "I'd look at any deal, and if it was the kind you can't turn down, well, then I'd have to say we wouldn't turn it down."

Arguing for a possible Rose deal is the fact the Reds could use some more pitching, their payroll keeps going up and Howsam is a disciple of the Branch Rickey school—trade 'em a year or two before they begin going downhill, while they still have peak value, and when their contracts are starting to get out of hand. Rose draws $107,000 from the Reds, is worth every penny of it, but it's still $107,000.

Nor would he watch a jet for Majorca if the Reds did trade him.

"I wouldn't like to leave Cincinnati," said the stocky 32-year-old outfielder when he was asked how he'd feel about being traded. "But I certainly wouldn't say I wasn't going to report.

The Reds did figure in one of the five deals made here Monday but it was a minor one with them getting outfielder Bill Voss, a 27-year-old retread, from the Cardinals for pitcher Pat Jacquez. Both Voss and Jacques then were sent to minor league clubs.

Nettles and Agee were the most important performers in Monday's transactions however.

The Yankees outbid 10 other clubs for the 28-year-old Nettles, a power hitting, slick fielding third baseman who has averaged better than 23 homers a season for the Cleveland Indians the past three years. Along with Nettles, the Yanks picked up backup catcher Gerry Moses from the Indians for four of their younger players—21-year-old outfielder Charlie Spikes, considered the Yanks' outstanding prospect; 24-year-old catcher-first baseman John Ellis; outfielder Rusty Torres, another 24-year-old; and infielder Jerry Kenney, 27, who had asked to be traded.

Agee, one of the key factors in the Mets' march to their "miracle" world championship three years ago, went to Houston for outfielder Rich Chiles. The 30 year old Agee fell on some sorry days with the Mets this past season, winding up with a .227 average, 47 RBI's with 13 homers contrasted with the .285 he hit a year ago and the 76 RBI's and 26 homers he put together when the Mets won in 1969.

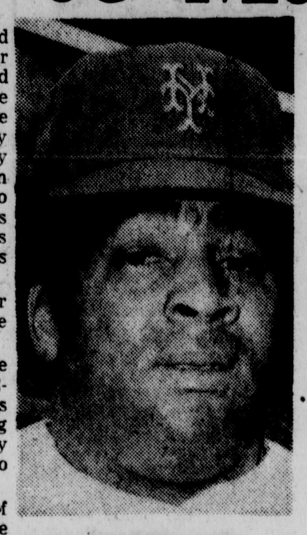

The deal for the left-handed hitting, 23-year-old Chiles followed one with Cleveland in which the Mets acquired right-handed pitcher Phil Hennigan for left-handed pitcher Brent Strom and right-hander Bob Rauch.

Detroit and Pittsburgh also did a little business, the Tigers getting outfielder Dick Sharon, a .268 hitter with Charleston of the International League, for a pair of pitchers, Jim Foor and Norm McRae, whom the Pirates turned right around and sent to Charleston.

The California Angels and Philadelphia Phillies, who made 21-year-old right-handed pitcher Mike Bruhert their first choice in the smallest major league draft ever (only six players were selected in all), left one deal in the we'll-let-you know stage.

Harry Dalton, the Angels' general manager, had offered either Andy Messersmith or Clyde Wright and Ken Berry for Larry Bowa, and Paul Owens, the Phils' general manager now has come up with an alternative deal—Denny Doyle and Terry Harmon instead of Bowa.

To that Dalton told Owens "We'll let you know."

Stowe...A Shula Trademark

MIAMI (UPI)—Just like Earl Morrall, wide receiver Otto Stowe is a Don Shula trademark—an understudy who can step into the star's role anytime.

Morrall, the 17-year pro quarterback, has been doing it for Shulas' Miami Dolphins ever since Bob Griese went out with a smashed leg and ankle in the fifth game of the season. Stowe didn't get his chance until Paul Warfield was sidelined with a hurt ankle two weeks ago.

Monday night, the second-year pro with the lean and graceful build and the wild head of Afro-styled hair caught six passes for 140 yards and two touchdowns—his first as a pro—and was the star of Miamis' 31-10 rout of the St. Louis Cardinals. He got the game ball, and the praise of both coaches.

"Otto was great," said Shula of the player he picked as Miami's first draft choice last year, a 23-year-old out of Iowa State.

"We were aware of the patterns he would run, but I guess he just got our cornerback, Norm Thompson, turned around," said Cardinal Coach Bob Hollway, whose team now is 2-8-1 for the season.

"I wish I had a little more playing time in some of the other games. It's great to get out there and contribute what you learn in practice," said Stowe.

But he may be back on the sidelines if Warfield returns to the lineup against New England next week, as Shula expects.

Miami is undefeated in 11 games now, the first team since the Los Angeles Rams in 1969, to win the first 11 games and the first team in 11 years to clinch a division championship in the NFL after only 10 games.

Team depth has been one of Shula's goals since he came to Miami from Baltimore in 1970, and Morrall, Stowe and Mercury Morris—who's been running for Jim Kiick most of the time since Kiick was partially hobbled with a knee injury four weeks ago—are testimony to his success.

Morrall passed 37 and 27 yards to Stowe for two Dolphin scores Monday night. Kiick got the first touchdown on a two-yard plunge after Dick Anderson's first quarter fumble recovery and cornerback Lloyd Mumphord collected the other touchdown with a 28-yard runback of a Gary Cuozzo pass interception. Garo Yepremian kicked the four extra points plus a 25-yard field goal.

After Jim Bakken kicked a 49-yard field goal in the middle of the second quarter, St. Louis had to wait until the fourth quarter for a second score, a two-yard plunge by Leon Burns that capped a 51-yard drive directed by Cuozzo replacement Jim Hart. Bakken kicked the conversion.

The Dolphins meet New England and the New York Giants on the road before returning home to play Baltimore in the regular season windup, and even if Dolphin fans are hollering for an undefeated season, Shula is trying to play it smart.

"In our situation now, winning is important, that's for sure, and we want to keep up our momentum. But not as the risk of our ballplayers," said Shula in explaining why he will hold out Warfield and Kiick and Griese—whose leg is mending well—as long as he has to to have them healthy for the playoffs.

Looking ahead, he also has started scouting likely playoff opponents. He sent his men to watch the Kansas City-Oakland and the Minnesota-Pittsburgh games on Sunday. Miami probably will meet the American Conference "wild card" team Dec. 24, if that team comes from either of the two other divisions.

USC, 'Bama Still on Top

NEW YORK (UPI)—Southern California and Alabama remained the two top ranked while Oklahoma and Ohio State made significant gains in the ratings after upset victories over the holiday weekend.

USC fell just three points shy of being a unanimous choice for the No. 1 spot as the Trojans received 31 first place votes from United Press International's Board of Coaches for a total of 337 points. Thirty-four of the 35 coaches on the board participated in the voting.

Alabama, the pride of the south, held firmly to the No. 2 spot as they captured the other three first place votes and finished with 303 votes.

USC and Alabama will both be shooting for undefeated seasons Saturday. Southern Cal, 10-0, hosts Notre Dame while the Crimson Tide, also 10-0, meet ninth-ranked Auburn.

It was Southern California and Alabama again No. 1 and No.2 in the next-to-last Associated Press college football poll of the regular season.

The Trojans got 46 of 50 first place votes and 990 of a possible 1,000 points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters Monday in this week's poll.

Alabama received the remaining four first place votes and a grand total of 890 points.

Oklahoma moved from fourth to third this week after the Sooners stunned Nebraska 17-14 on Thanksgiving Day. Oklahoma totaled 254 points after it proved in convincing fashion that it was the cream of the crop in the Big Eight Conference. The Sooners need only to beat Oklahoma State this week to win the title.

Nebraska, meanwhile, fell to eighth in the balloting, with 104 points.

Ohio State leaped from eighth to fourth after the Buckeyes defeated Michigan 14-11 to tie for the Big Ten championship and earn a berth in the Rose Bowl against USC on New Year's Day.

Ohio State received 211 points and was followed by Texas with 159 points and Michigan, third a week ago, with 143 points.

Penn State was No. 7 with 129 points, and Nebraska, Auburn, with 65 points and Notre Dame, with 59 points, completed the top-ten.

Texas was the only other team in the first 10 to play and the fifth-ranked Longhorns humbled Texas A&M 38-3 on Thanksgiving night.

Tennessee which defeated Kentucky 17-7 Saturday, moved up a spot to No. 11 while Louisiana State, ninth last week, dropped to No. 12 after playing a 3-3 tie against Florida.

Colorado, its season already completed, remained 13th, and Arizona State, after outscoring Arizaona 38-21, held on to the 14th spot.

State Hawks Open With 67-46 Loss

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—New Paltz (N.Y.) State's basketball team lost its opening game Monday night but in the process showed signs of things not being as bad as had been feared for later this season.

The Hawks dropped a 67-46 decision to the University of New Haven in the New Haven Colisseum. It was a game in which New Paltz committed 26 turnovers and shot a mere 27 per cent from the floor, yet Coach Si Pesavento's team was not blown off the court.

"We looked promising," Pesavento said. "We had been working very hard on defense and practice and it showed."

New Paltz led throughout much of the first half. Then, with some five minutes remaining, the Hawks suffered several defensive lapses. They were enough to cause the edge to go to the other side and New Haven went into the locker room at half time, ahead by ten points.

That was the only real letdown by the Hawk defense. New Haven managed to extend its lead by ten more points when the second half began, but only because New Paltz was ice cold, the Hawks failing to net a bucket until five minutes had elapsed. By that time it was too late.

"You can't shoot the way we did and let down on defense and expect to win. New Haven was a good strong club with height and excellent shooting," Pesavento noted.

The home standing Chargers out-rebounded New Paltz, 68-55. Freshmen Stan McLachlan and Greg Rudomanski each had 14 points to lead the winners.

Bob Lucas, the Hawks' transfer student from Post Jr. College, was high man for both sides with 20.

New Paltz is home on Thursday to face Plattsburgh State.

Clear Sailing for Miller

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — The absence of Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer made it easier for Johnny Miller to win the $125,000 Heritage Golf Classic on Monday.

Miller said so himself.

"Coming into the last couple of holes, you know, anything can happen," he said.

"But I felt I could handle those guys around me the challengers, except maybe Tom Weiskopf. You know, most of them are young guys and I figured I could beat them.

"But it would be something else if you're coming into the last few holes and Arnold or Jack or Lee is there.

"Those guys—they're the best players in the world—they put the pressure on you."

But they weren't playing in this one, and Miller casually sauntered off with a front-running victory, his second on the pro golf tour and also his second, unofficially, in as many weeks.

He won an unofficial title in New Zealand just a week ago, a victory that the 25-year-old Miller said set him up for the triumph on the 6,555-year Harbour Town Golf Links, one of the toughest courses the touring pros play all year.

"Winning in New Zealand gave me the confidence I needed," he said.

The blond Californian, now representing a club on this resort island, started the weather-delayed final round Monday with a one-stroke lead. He ran off three consecutive birdies en route to a one-under-par 70, and finished the 72 holes with a three-under-par total of 281.

The only drama came on the final two holes.

The veteran Weiskopf, who finished alone in second just one stroke behind Miller after shooting a brilliant 66 Monday that was built on a string of seven consecutive threes, was in the clubhouse with a 282 when Miller came to the last two holes.

He bogeyed the 17th from a bunker, and went to the tough 18th hole needing a par to win. He reached the green in two, but needed two putts to salvage his par from 35 feet—the last an 18-incher.

Former PGA champion Bobby Nichols, rookie Lon Hinkle and youthful amateur Ben Crenshaw tied for third at 283. Crenshaw and Nichols each had final round 67s and Hinkle shot a 71.

DISGUSTED — John Miller has a look of disgust on his face after missing a putt for a birdie on the 15th green, but Miller went on to beat charging Tom Weiskopf by one stroke to take the Heritage Golf Classic Monday. Miller, formerly of California, makes his home at Hilton Head, S.C., site of the tourney. (UPI)

A Good Debut

By United Press International

David Thompson didn't disappoint North Carolina State fans in his long-awaited varsity debut.

Thompson, a 6-foot-4, 195-pound sophomore from Shelby, N.C., scored 33 points, 21 of them in the second half, and grabbed 13 rebounds Monday night to lead the 10th-ranked Wolfpack to a 130-53 rout of Appalachian State.

Thompson, who averaged over 30 points a game as a freshman, connected on 14-of-20 shots and was 5-for-5 from the foul line as he helped North Carolina State set school records for biggest victory margin and most field goals scored. He was also a terror on defense, with steals and blocked shots.

"He can shoot, he can rebound, he's got all the moves and all the tools to be an All-America," said Press Maravich, Appalachian's new coach. "We worked for this game for six weeks and it was just awful."

Seven North Carolina State players hit in double figures as the Wolfpack surged to a 67-36 halftime lead and then poured it on in the second half.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 6 Ohio State beat Wisconsin-Milwaukee 92-81 and 11th-ranked Houston clubbed Southern Mississippi 104-77.

Luke Witte scored 24 points and Allan Hornyak hit 23 as Ohio State beat stubborn Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Harold Lee led the losers with 26 points, 24 of them in the second half.

Steve Newsome had 24 points and 14 rebounds and Olympic star Dwight Jones had 18 points and 22 rebounds to power Houston over Southern Mississippi. Houston outscored the Southerners 29-6 early in the first half to break open the game.

Elsewhere, Henry Williams scored 35 points to pace Jacksonville to a 103-94 victory over William and Mary and Ernie Kusnyer had 21 points and 12 rebounds as Kansas State beat San Diego State 79-67.

Gus Bailey scored 16 points, including the last five for Texas-El Paso, as the Miners upended New Mexico State 56-54. John Williamson had 34 points for State.

Freshman Alvin Adams scored 34 points and had a school record 28 rebounds in his first varsity game as Oklahoma topped Indiana State 92-84.

Major League Baseball Lacks Old-Time Emotion

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

HONOLULU (UPI) — The game with all the emotion today, the one that stirs the fans the most, unquestionably is football.

You don't need any polls to tell you that.

There used to be a time when baseball was the nation's leading emotional game. Not only from the standpoint of the fans who'd discuss the game by the hour, argue about it and live by it. But also from the standpoint of the players, who creating a rich history of their own, realized they were and delighted in it.

Today much of the emotion has disappeared from baseball. The motivation which used to be a trademark of such once-great organizations as the St. Louis Cardinals, New York Yankees and New York Giants simply doesn't exist to anywhere near the degree it once did.

Players Less Emotional

Certainly the baseball players of today don't get half as emotional about their work as the football players do. To the great majority of baseball players, it's merely a job and little more.

"I've always been called the 'champion' of the ballplayers, the only one that always defends them," says Frank Lane, the Milwaukee Brewers' exec.

"They call me that, I suppose, because I honestly like ballplayers and make no secret of the fact. That doesn't mean I am blind to the change that has taken place in them. Baseball actually is an emotional game, highly emotional. It was, anyway, and to some extent that emotion among the players is still there. But the fact is they're prouder of their players' association today than of the clubs they work for. The fans? They come third with a good percentage of the ballplayers.

"I've been in baseball forty years and anybody who knows me knows I'm not forever harping back to the good old days. Still, when ballplayers used to get together years ago, they'd talk about winning ballgames and getting base hits. Now when they get together all they generally talk about is money."

No Question

There's no question the players' strike of last spring hurt baseball. It hurt the players, the owners and the general image of the game.

Marvin Miller, the head of the Players' Association, is an extraordinarily capable man. He has done a remarkable job in the players' public behalf but even he'd admit the players' public relations have been handled poorly.

The way it is now most people think the ballplayers are enormously greedy. They think every ball player is a millionaire when in fact only 22 out of 660 major leaguers earn as much as $100,000 a year and more than half the remainder receive less than $40,000 and average less than five years at their occupation.

As matters now stand, the fans generally have an incorrect impression of ballplayers and the players have that same incorrect impression of clubowners. The players peg most of their owners as cheapskates, and that makes a man like Frank Lane laugh.

Remembers Signing Musial

"I remember signing Stan Musial for $90,000 one year when I was general manager with the Cardinals," he said. "I had occasion to call up Gussie Busch (the Cards' owner) and after telling him what I did he said, 'I've never had a $100,000 ballplayer. Do you mind making Stan's salary $100,000 instead of $90,000?' I told him I didn't mind at all. It was his money."

That was 16 years ago when there was more emotion in baseball. More among the owners, the players and the fans.

Frank Lane remembers another episode. This one took place last spring shortly before the players' strike.

Jim Lonborg, Ken Sanders, Jim Colburn and Ellie Rodriguez of the Brewers were sitting around the clubhouse in Tempe, Ariz., talking with Lane about the profit and loss in baseball.

"You think there's a lot of profit in running a major league ballclub?" he asked the players.

"There certainly is," they chorused.

Three Made Money

"You think so," Lane countered. "What would you say if I told you three clubs in the American League made any money at all last year?"

"We'd never buy that," said one of the players.

"In other words, you think only owners make money?"

"Yup."

"Ok, I'll tell you what I'll do," said Lane. "I'll make each of you this same proposition: I'll give you each a $10,000 contract to start with and see to it you all share proportionately in the club profits, assuming there are any at the end of the season. Say we make a million dollars. Each of you would get one 20th of that. In effect, each of you'd be a four per cent owner in the club. Whadd'ya say?"

"Oh, Jeeze, no," the players all said.

It was an offer they could refuse easily, without any emotion at all.

Weissmuller Blowing His Own Horn

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — "I was better than Mark Spitz," says former Olympic hero and motion picture star Johnny Weismuller.

Weissmuller, now 68 and running a swimming pool business in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., made the comparison of himself with the current Olympic hero, Spitz, by phone to the Indianapolis News.

The man who played Tarzan of the motion pictures and Jungle Jim of television has evidence to support his contention, even though Spitz, a former Indiana University star swimmer, won seven gold medals in the Olympics at Munich last September.

Weissmuller won five gold medals, three at Paris in 1924 and two at Amsterdam in 1928.

"I never lost a race," said Weissmuller. "Even when I was swimming at the YMCA. And besides, four of the events Spitz won medals in didn't even exist when I swam in the Olympics."

Weissmuller added, "Spitz is a sprinter. I set 67 world records in distance events, from 50 yards to 880 yards.

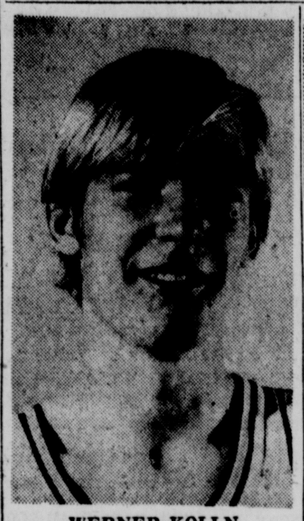

"Besides," he said, "It's easier to go faster now. They don't have to touch with their hand now on a turn. They just flip and push off. That's worth a fraction of a second. And the pools are deeper now and the platform is higher, so they gain a couple of strokes entering the water."

Weissmuller wouldn't say so openly, but sounded a bit miffed at the commercial success that is headed Spitz' way. Two years after his last Olympics performance, Weismuller's coach got him a swimsuit contract that earned him $500 a week. A short time later he made the first of his 19 movies.

"Easy work," he said of the picture. "I got to swim and I didn't have to say much. We just had to keep doing the scenes over and over because the animals never did what they were supposed to."

Weissmuller wouldn't guess how successful the handsome Spitz might be in films. "It depends on what the William Morris Agency people do for him. They handled me, too. I was in Mexico City when Spitz lost four years ago. This summer I sat with his parents in Munich, but he ignored me. I think it was jealousy on his part."

Spitz and Weissmuller will get a chance to get together and iron out their differences next month when Spitz' seven gold medals go on display at the International Swimming Hall of Fame in Fort Lauderdale, where Weissmuller is chairman of the board.

WERNER KOLLN

Kolln Will Miss Opening Game

Werner Kolln of Kingston will definitely be out of the lineup when Albany State University opens its 1972-73 basketball season at Stony Brook Saturday.

State's Coach Dick Sauers revealed Monday that Kolln, the Great Danes 6-4 hustler is presently battling a case of mononucleosis.

In addition to Kolln, who had been moved from forward back to center, where he played as a sophomore, newcomer Rich Kapner has a chipped ankle which will probably keep him out of action until after Christmas. The No. 2 center, Bob Curtiss twisted his ankle in a scrimmage at Montclair.

Julius Erving, Archibald Tops In ABA, NBA

NEW YORK (UPI)—Julius Erving continues to dominate the American Basketball Association's scorers and with his help the Virginia Squires are edging up on the Carolina Cougars in the Eastern Division.

Erving, who joined the Squires when they were 0-4, is leading the league with a 32.0 points per game average and has helped bring Virginia over the .500 mark (13-12) and 1½ -games behind Carolina.

Artis Gilmore, the ABA's ninth leading scorer, is tops in the league in rebounding with an average of 19.4 per game and is also the league's No. 1 shot-blocker with 85 in 21 games.

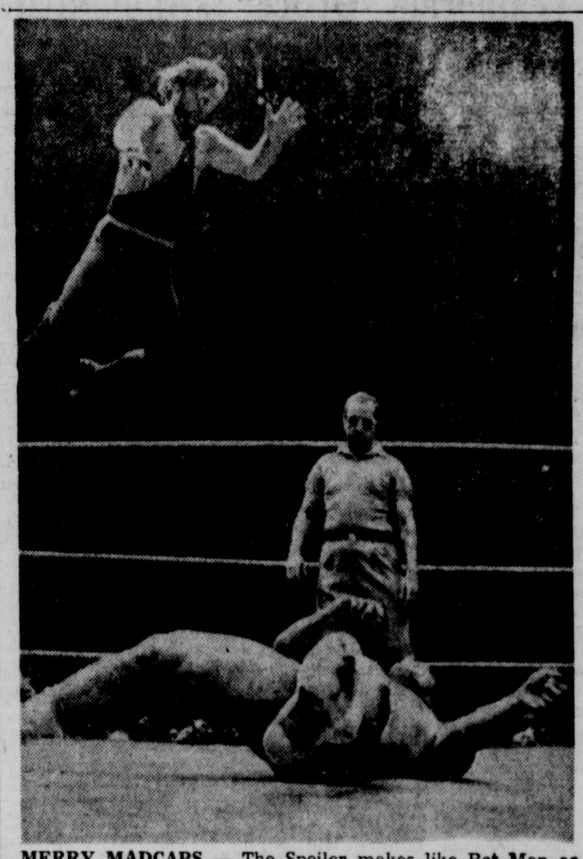

New York's Bill Melchionni remains the leader in assists with a 10.4 average.

Over in the National Basketball Association, Wilt Chamberlain has moved back into the rebounding lead with the help of a tremendous game (26 rebounds) against Phoenix. The 36 year-old Los Angeles center also is hitting on an unbelievable .802 of his field goals.

As the result of Chaberlains' heroics, the Lakers are coasting on a 13-game winning streak and are leading the tough Pacific Division by 4½ games.

On the other end of the measuring pole, little Nate Archibald of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings is still the NBA's scoring leader with a 34.3 points per game average. Charlie Scott of Phoenix is second with 27.4 points per game and Spencer Haywood is third with 27.0 points per game.

The Golden State Warriors must be holding midnight foul shooting practice or something because three of their players are among the top five free throw shooters in the NBA. Cazzie Russell took over the lead at .947 with Rick Barry a close second at .938. Jim Barnett is fifth at .902.

Monticello Oddsmaker Explains the System

MONTICELLO

After making up the morning line at Monticello all summer long, Mike Gordon figures to be odds on to know a good thing when he sees one.

Right?

Well, not exactly.

"Much of the betting public misconstrues the role of the odds maker," said Gordon, while preparing the early line for last Thursday night's opening card. "The favorite, for instance isn't necessarily the best horse in the race, but rather my opinion of how the patrons will wager.

"Sometimes a race has a stickout and that makes my job easier," Gordon continued. "But most of the races are tight and tough to handicap. If the post time odds reflect the morning line, then the public has proved me right. But the bettors are very independent. They love to bet against the program and that's good, too."

Gordon concocts two lines for every racing program—an early line for Doc Robins' Tomorrow's Trots and racing publications and a final for the nightly program, the tote board and dailies such as this one.

"Sometimes the lines are very similar, but often there are drastic changes," explained Mike, who at 25 may be the youngest oddsmaker in the sport. "At Monticello, we work on a three-day draw and a lot can happen in three days. One horse is scratched. Another moves in. A no-driver on Monday becomes, say, Jim Grundy on Wednesday. Now that has to improve the horse's chances on Thursday, so I'll adjust the line accordingly."

Handicapping horses isn't the only thing Gordon does well. He's an accomplished musician with a BA in music from Long Island University. He plays the trumpet, guitar and drums and appeared with a rack band that enjoyed a moderate success in New York a few years ago.

"Yeah, but making music is a tough way to make a living," says Gordon. "You never know when you're going to work next. I'm lucky to have gotten into harness racing. The work is steady."

20-Game Slate For Holy Cross

RHINECLIFF

Holy Cross School, formerly known as Cardinal Farley Academy, has lined up a 20-game schedule for the 1972-73 basketball season in CYO and Hudson Valley Basketball League play.

The team opened with victories over Mt. Carmel of Poughkeepsie, 73-33, and Salesian High of Goshen, 90-62. Coach Bob Krausz says any of his eight front line players could be starters and his bench, though small in numbers, is strong in talent.

The varsity squad includes Fred Carr, Jerry Lee, Jim Lundberg, John Rojas, John Sanchez, Trevis Smith, Adam Smith and Chuck Walker.

The schedule:

Nov.
29 St. Joachim, CYO Home
Dec.
3 Wappingers, CYO Away

Oneonta Tops Hartwick, 3-0

ONEONTA, N. Y. (UPI) — Junior Charles Camacho scored the first two goals and sophomore Bert Bidos added a third late in the game Monday as Oneonta State beat Hartwick College 3 - 0 in the New York State finals of the NCAA College Division soccer playoffs.

Oneonta meets Springfield College, winner of the New England regionals, in a game to be played here. The date for the contest has not been determined.

Saratoga Champ

Jean Paul Morel scored 173 wins to establish himself as "King" of the sulky at Saratoga Raceway this season. Jimmy Allen reined 169 winners.

Bill Straub Leads in PBA

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — With 143 competitors trying to knock him off his mountain of points, Bill Straub of Lincoln, Neb., rolled into the second round today of the $65,000 Professional Bowlers Association National Championship.

Straub, one of the youngest competitors in the field at 21 years old, amassed 1,912 pins in the first of three eight-game elimiation blocks played Monday. He bowled games of 247, 227, 225, 247, 289, 225 and 227.

Runner-up was Steven Norwicki of Rochester, a part-time performer on the PBA tour who had games of 225, 247, 205, 224, 236, 255, 257 and 191. He was 72 pins behind Straub.

Fourth place was tied by Nelson Burton J. of St. Louis and Bill Johnson of New Orleans, each with 1,813 sticks.

Fifth place went to Palmer Fallgren of Sacramento, Calif., who spilled 1,812 and was 100 pins off the lead.

The field will be reduced to 48 men Wednesday after the third eight-game block is bowled. Another eight-game block will reduce the competition to 24 men Thursday with the final games Friday. Top prize—$7,500.

Raider Jayvees Post 8-1 Record

RED HOOK

Losing only to eventual champion Liberty, Red Hook High's JV football team posted an 8-1 record this season, good enough for second place in the Ulster County Athletic League standings.

Coached by Al Mallanda and Joe Fabbie, the team scored 200 points while yielding just 46. Walt Ulickas led the club in scoring with 10 touchdowns and one conversion for 62 points. Joe Skelly had 40 and Ed McManus had 38.

With the varsity having also finished second, the play of the JV seems to insure a bright future for Red Hook.

Co-Captains

Junior Jim Stahl of Corry, Pa. and sophomore Jay McGinley of Short Hills, N. J. have been elected co-captains of the 1972-73 Ithaca College varsity swimming teams.

Temporary Officer Is Appointed

RED HOOK — James Loftus has been appointed zoning enforcement officer for the Village of Red Hook on a temporary basis, replacing recently resigned John Rider.

The newly passed zoning law in the village, which replaced the first law from the 1950s, had increased the work load and this was given by Rider as a reason for his resignation.

Loftus is also zoning enforcement officer for the Village of Rhinebeck and the Towns of Red Hook and Rhinebeck. It is for this reason that the appointment was noted as "temporary."

The board felt that Loftus's duties in other areas took up much of his time and it was decided to see how the arrangement would work out before finalizing the appointment.

Loftus will have office hours at the Red Hook Village Hall from 1-2 p.m. every Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Term Opens

The December term of Supreme and County Court will open Monday, Dec. 4 in Ulster County. Trial jurors are to report to the Court House on Wall Street in Kingston at 9:30 a.m. and grand jurors are to report at 11 a.m. County Judge Raymond J. Mino will preside in County Court and Justice Louis G. Bruhn and Justice George L. Cobb will preside during Part I and II of Supreme Court, respectively.

Fine-Free Month

The Phoenicia Library will forego all fines on overdue books during the month of December. At the monthly meeting of the board of trustees it was resolved to thank all volunteers who donated services during the past year. The Rev. Ralph Darmstadt, board chairman, presided.

Plan Bus Trip

The Marbletown Senior Citizens Club is sponsoring a trip to Radio City Music Hall for the Christmas Show Dec. 12. Bus will leave 6:15 a.m. All senior citizens of the town may take part. Reservations must be made before Dec. 1 with Mrs. Isaac Graham or Mrs. Jesse Barnhart.

LEGAL NOTICE

At a Special Term, Part I, of the New York Supreme Court, held in and for the County of Ulster, at the County Court House, in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, on the 17th day of November, 1972.

PRESENT:
HON. JOHN L. LARKIN, JUSTICE

STATE OF NEW YORK, SUPREME COURT, ULSTER COUNTY

JOHN A. McSTAY, Plaintiff,
- against -
SUZZAN J. McSTAY, Defendant.

ORDER FOR SERVICE OF SUMMONS BY PUBLICATION

Upon reading and filing the Summons and Complaint in this action, the said Complaint showing the cause of action specified in Subdivision I, of Section 314 of the Civil Practice Law and Rules, in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant for an absolute divorce, and upon the affidavit of John A. McStay, sworn to the 16th day of November, 1972, by which the plaintiff has made proof to my satisfaction that the said defendant cannot be served by another prescribed method of service, with due diligence, and mailing having been dispensed with,

NOW, on motion of Joseph Avis, Esq., attorney for the plaintiff, it is ORDERED, that the service of the Summons in the above entitled action upon the said Suzzan J. McStay, be made by publication thereof, in accordance with Rule 316 of the Civil Practice Law and Rules in one newspaper in the English language, viz: The Daily Freeman, published in the City of Kingston, State of New York, hereby designated as being most likely to give notice to said defendant, once a week for three successive weeks, together with a notice to the defendant, and a brief statement of the object of the action, and it is further

ORDERED, that the Summons, Complaint, Order and papers upon which this Order is granted be filed on or before the first day of publication, and that first publication be made within twenty (20) days after the date of this Order, and it is further ORDERED, that Subdivision B of Rule 316 of the Civil Practice Law and Rules be dispensed with since it has been shown to my satisfaction that the whereabouts of the defendant have not been ascertained by the plaintiff in spite of due diligence in that regard, so that the mailing of a copy of the Summons prior to the first day of publication would be fruitless, and of no force and effect.

NOTICE: The object of this action is to obtain a judgment of divorce dissolving the marriage between the parties on the grounds of Abandonment of the plaintiff by the defendant.

The relief sought is*:

A judgment of absolute divorce in favor of the plaintiff dissolving forever the bonds of matrimony between the parties in this action.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN PURCHASED GAS ADJUSTMENTS

On November 21, 1972 Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation filed with the Public Service Commission of the State of New York, Statement No. 25 to rate schedule P.S.C. No. 11—Gas setting forth the rates of Purchased Gas Cost Adjustments to become effective on November 29, 1972. Said rates are (a) 1.808 cents per 100 cubic feet of gas billed under Service Classification Nos. 1 and 2 and (b) 0.856 cents per 100 cubic feet of gas billed under Service Classification Nos. 3, 4 and 5.

CENTRAL HUDSON GAS & ELECTRIC CORPORATION

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN GAS RATE SCHEDULE

On November 21, 1972 Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation filed with the Public Service Commission of the State of New York amendments to gas rate schedule P.S.C. No. 11—Gas to become effective on December 21, 1972. Said amendments, issued in compliance with the Commission's orders in Case 25766, provide that (1) a new non-domestic customer may be attached if the customer had incurred or made irrevocable commitments to incur costs for the planning or installation of gas utilization equipment prior to October 26, 1971 and had made written application prior to September 1, 1972 and (2) the use of gas for (a) laundromat clothes drying and (b) pilot light operation in heavy oil burner installations, where gas service connections exist for other uses, is permitted since there is no practical or economically feasible substitute for gas.

EMPLOYMENT

ATTENTION JOB APPLICANTS
The Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted ads from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than the legal minimum wage or fail to pay at least time and one-half for overtime hours. The minimum wage for employment covered by the FISA prior to the 1966 Amendments is $1.85 an hour with overtime pay required after 40 hours a week. Jobs covered as a result of the 1966 Amendments require $1.80 an hour minimum with overtime pay required after 40 hours a week. For specific information contact the Wage and Hour Office of the U. S. Department of Labor, 231 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452, WYandotte 3-1235.
IMPORTANT NOTICE: The New York State Law against Discrimination and the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits discrimination in employment because of sex unless based on a bona fide occupational qualification. Help Wanted and Situation Wanted advertisements are arranged in columns captioned "Male" and "Female" for the convenience of readers and are not intended as an unlawful limitation or discrimination based on sex.

Your Horoscope

Wednesday, November 29

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good chance is present today and tonight for you to cooperate with others so that your joint projects can reach a successful conclusion. A fine time for finding the apparel necessary to improve your appearance. Use good taste.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Talk over with associates your plans for having more abundance in the near future. You can engage in civic work and accomplish a great deal, provided you get the help from experts.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can make your surroundings more charming and gain the approval of friends. Find the right articles of apparel to make you look more attractive. Attend that party tonight. Be poised.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You get some strange ideas about changing your appearance, so forget it and be yourself. Attend to important tasks ahead of you. Your mate requires more affection at this time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 22) There is a fine opportunity for you to improve conditions at home and you should not waste time in doing so. Invite friends to home and show what a well-knit family you have.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get in touch with associates and outline your plans for the future. You can gain their full cooperation. You can benefit from their ideas also. Entertain them at home later in the day.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Show your fine ability at practical affairs and you can accomplish a great deal now. Plan those repairs to home that are necessary. Avoid having clutter around you. Relax tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Look to good friends for the assistance you need now for launching new project. Engage in social activities and become a more popular person. You have good ideas now, so express them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to get at the truth now of whatever has been most puzzling to you in the past and become a happier person. The evening can be most delightful from a romantic standpoint.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A good time to visit friends you haven't seen in a long time. Make this a most delightful day. You are able to achieve a personal aim that has been difficult in the past.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try to please higher-ups who have considerable power over your affairs. You can get ahead faster by becoming more interested in civic affairs. Show that you are a dynamic person.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Forget that humdrum existence and look into new and fascinating outlets that can add much to your present income. Discuss the future with financial experts for best results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Do those things that make your abode or place of business more operative and efficient. Find new items of apparel that will make your wardrobe more attractive. Strive for happiness.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people with a particular charm and can easily influence others, provided the smile is used more. Direct the education along lines that require cooperation with others and there can be great success in this chart. There is an abundance of fine talent here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

TALKER: (Q.) Philip tells everyone he only likes me as a friend. He also tells them that I have a split personality. But when he is with me he is very sweet and acts like a boy friend —if you know what I mean.

How Can I get him to like me enough not to talk about me?—Sandra in Kansas.

(A.) It may be that Philip just does not know that boys do not say unkind things in public about girls they like enough to go out with, and girls follow the same rule about boys they like enough to go out with.

Tell him about this rule. Ask him not to talk about you to other people.

This may work, and I hope it does. If it doesn't you will know that Philip has a trouble too many boys and girls have—he can't keep his mouth shut at the right times.

The only sensible thing to do with a boy like that is to get rid of him.

SECRET: (Q.) I love the ugliest boy in my class and have been dating him, but nobody else knows about us except my girl friend.

She is threatening to tell it around about us. We don't want her to.

How can I get her not to?—In Love in Washington, D.C.

WHY WE SAY

DISTINCTION: Someone who is successful might be referred to as "making his mark." At one time smiths and pottery makers had individual marks which they put on their products. When these marks or brand names became well known, the person had "made his mark."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The first national monument to the Unknown Soldier was built to honor the unidentified Americans who died in World War I. The Unknown Soldier was entombed Nov. 11, 1921, at Arlington National Cemetery, Virginia, in the presence of President Warren G. Harding, The World Almanac says. The tomb is inscribed: "Here rests in honored glory an American soldier known but to God."

FCC Report Is Vital

NEW YORK (AP) — Next March the communications subcommittee of the Senate Commerce Committee will inspect this year's broadcasting record as described by the Federal Communications Commission.

And the annual FCC report may well cover the delicate topic of who's been naughty or nice this year in network television—a bold year in which homosexuality, lesbianism, venereal disease and abortion finally took their places in the ranks of acceptable television story themes.

Sen. John Pastore, chairman of the Senate subcommittee, says he hasn't seen any indication yet that the networks are using sexually oriented story themes just to boost rating points.

"I can't spot it as yet," the Rhode Island Democrat said last week in a telephone interview from his home state, where he was working and resting during the Senate's post-election break.

"But naturally, when I go back to Washington I'm going to have discussions with Dean Burch (FCC chairman) and the rest of the commission to find out their reaction to what's going on," he said.

What could develop when Pastore's subcommittee meets next year to begin hearings on the FCC's annual report?

"Only the arousing of public opinion," he said. "Frankly, there've been some things that have shocked me. There have been four-letter words used on radio. Of course, they haven't gone that far on television.

"They have used four-letter words on television, but they've (the networks) 'bleeped' them out. At least they've had the decency to do that. But, you know, someday they're not going to do that.

"The big question is how far we're going to go with this," Pastore said, referring to television's new permissiveness. "The only thing I can do is to keep it more or less in the area of public attention, to make the public know exactly what is going on."

He emphasized that Congress and the government can't by law "regulate programming. As a matter of law, we can't get into the area of censorship, and nobody cares to get into that."

However, he observed, television "is highly competitive field and, as ideas become shopworn, they (producers) come into something that gets a little bolder and bolder.

"And then it's going to get more and more risque. Now homosexuality and lesbianism, I suppose, is a realism of life and it's amongst us. And some people are very much offended by programs about these topics.

'But just how they (the networks) are going to handle it is a hard thing to say," Pastore mused. "I would hope that it doesn't get out of hand."

Are there limits to what can be shown on television?

"Well, not legally," Pastore said. "The point is, it all comes down to a matter of restraint and judgment and prudence on the part of the broadcast licensee."

And he added later that there also is "the matter of public opinion as to what is going to happen to these (broadcasts) licensees once they come up for renewal by the FCC."

What part can the public play at license-renewal time?

"That's what I'm talking about," Pastore said. "The public will have to appear and object to some of these licensees who become a little too bold on some of these things."

The whole reason for false-carding is that you want to fool your opponent and give him a problem. The declarer who false-cards automatically frequently helps his opponents.

South was one of these automatic false-carders. He was delighted with the spade lead since his one weakness was the heart suit. He dropped his ace of spades on East's 10 and promptly led the 10 of clubs for a finesse.

East took his king and returned the five of hearts. South rose with the queen but it was all over for South. The defense added five heart tricks to the club trick already in the bag.

"Nice shift," said South "I was sure you would return your partner's suit."

East said nothing on the theory that it never pays to educate your opponents, but South's false-card of the spade ace had been a dead giveaway. East knew that West had not led away from king-queen-jack so that the ace play marked South with at least the king.

If south had simply won the first spade with his queen, East would have had a really tough decision. The queen play might well have been from king-queen-small in which case the spade return would have been the winning defensive play.

HEADED FOR JAIL — Newspaper reporter William Farr has a pensive look on his face as he rides a sheriff's van to jail for the second time in a week. Farr was taken into custody for the second time for refusing to divulge his source of information on a story he wrote during the Charles Manson murder trial two years ago. Farr had admitted that his information came from attornies involved in the case but refuses to name the person who gave him the information. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

'Martyr Without a Cause'... Reporter Jailed Indefinitely

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older, calling him a "martyr without a cause" in a bitter, face-to-face exchange Monday, climaxed an 18-month legal struggle over the conflicting rights of reporters and judges by sending William T. Farr to jail, to remain indefinitely.

The judge ordered the Los Angeles Times newsman to remain in jail until Farr agrees to reveal the names of two lawyers who were the source of a story about plans by the infamous Charlie Manson Family to murder celebrities.

Farr's attorney, Mark Hurwitz, was flying to San Francisco today to appeal to the California Supreme Court for a writ to free Farr.

Under the terms of his sentence for contempt of court, Farr could remain in jail until he either answers the question or until Judge Older leaves the bench. That could be the rest of either man's life.

In sending Farr to jail, the judge complained that some news stories of his long struggle with the reporter had been "untrue and unfair and unbecoming of a responsible news media." He said he particularly took issue with inferences he was carrying on a "personal vendetta" against Farr.

"In a very real sense, the predicament in which Mr. Farr finds himself today is of his own making," the judge said. "It appears to the court at this time that Mr. Farr has a strong desire to become a martyr and he wants to go to jail."

"I take that as a personal slur," replied Farr, saying it was not a case of wanting to become a martyr, and the judge broke in with "martyr without a cause."

"It is a problem of personal conscience and professional ethics, not for the purpose of martyring," Farr said. "I'm the one who knows and you do not."

In a dramatic courtroom confrontation, Judge Older called back the six attorneys—three prosecutors and three defense lawyers involved in the sensational trial of Manson and his followers for the Sharon Tate murders.

Two of them, according to Farr, gave him a transcript of police questioning of a prospective witness, thus violating the judge's gag order prohibiting attorneys and others involved in the case from revealing information to newsmen.

The transcript described plans by the Manson cult to murder celebrities such as Frank Sinatra, Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton and others in grotesque ways. The plans were never revealed in the trial testimony.

Farr, then a reporter for the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, published the story, promising his source he would not reveal his identity.

All six lawyers previously denied under oath before Judge Older that they provided Farr with the story. They face perjury charges, and possible jail sentences and disbarment, if they were identified.

Monday, the judge again asked each man whether he had given Farr the transcript. All said they had not. Older asked them whether they would release Farr from any obligation to protect them. All said Farr had no "legal, moral or ethical" obligation to protect them.

Questioned again, Farr said "The two attorneys involved have implored and beseeched me not to disclose their identity regardless of what they said in court today."

The judge called Farr's assurance of confidentiality "a misguided promise to someone not entitled to such a promise."

Farr based his stand on his promise, on the 1st Amendment guarantee of freedom of the press and a California law granting immunity to newsmen from government pressure to identify their sources of information. Farr's case has been appealed all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, which refused to hear it, in effect upholding Older's actions.

American Fighter-Bombers Kill 19 In 'Accidental Hit'

SAIGON (UPI)—Six American jet fighter-bombers accidentially bombed a populated area near the upper South Vietnamese coast today, killing at least 19 persons and injuring 29, the U.S. command said.

The command said two Air Force F4 Phantoms and four Navy A7s dropped "several" 500-pound bombs in an area about 2½ miles west of the town of Hoi An, about 357 miles north of Saigon and about 13 miles south of Da Nang. The command said the jets were flying missions supporting South Vietnamese ground forces at the time.

The command said it was not immediately known how the jets happened to mistakenly bomb the area.

Farther to the north, a South Vietnamese drive to recapture lost ground in Quang Tri Province before declaration of a cease-fire bogged down in the face of heavy North Vietnamese counterattacks.

The stalled government drive toward the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) in Quang Tri, South Vietnam's northernmost province, came despite massive air support.

The U.S. command said 48 B52 bombers in the past 24 hours dumped an estimated 2,400 tons of explosives on Communist positions—all but three of the big planes hitting within 10 miles of Quang Tri City—and 148 tactical air strikes were flown in the five-province northern region, most of them in Quang Tri.

UPI Correspondent Donald A. Davis reported that government marines fighting seven miles north of Quang Tri City, 435 miles north of Saigon, appear to have been stopped in their tracks since they repelled a North Vietnamese assault over the weekend.

Saigon paratroops fighting west of Highway 1 from Quang Tri City to the provincial boundary 10 miles south have yet to get moving in the twin drives, which began two weeks ago. The marines have advanced about two miles along a front seven miles wide. Both outfits have been up against barrages of up to 3,400 artillery and mortar shells in the province each day.

Davis reported that despite the heavy U.S. air and naval gunfire bombardment of North Vietnamese gun emplacements, Communist gunners fired a total of 2,500 rounds into marine and paratroop positions in the 24 hours ending at dawn today.

Government casualties in the Quang Tri fighting in the past 24 hours were five marines and eight paratroopers killed and 51 marines and 42 paratroopers wounded. The marines reported 38 North Vietnamese killed and the paratroopers claimed 21 Communists dead.

In the air war against North Vietnam, U.S. jets flew 60 sorties in the 24 hours ending at 5 p.m. Monday, the U.S. command said. In addition, B52's flew 10 missions against the North averaging three planes each.

Early Monday, about 500 North Vietnamese attacked a 700-man Saigon force seven miles north of Quang Tri City, military sources said. The Communists knocked out one government tank, damaged two and pushed South Vietnamese troops back one mile.

But the government troops, backed by U.S. air strikes and naval gunfire, fought back to their original line and halted the North Vietnamese counter-attack.

Romney's Crusade Ending

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Romney's four-year crusade as secretary of Housing and Urban Development to make the government do more for the cities and do it faster, is ending.

At age 65, Romney announced Monday he'll step outside government to try to influence things in a private role by gathering round him a group of "truth seekers and communicators."

At HUD, Romney said he's learned there are built-in limitations in government which make "the achievement of fundamental reform too dependent upon a crisis."

Announcing his resignation effective with the confirmation of a successor, Romney stated he has not become disillusioned.

"Just say I have an understanding that I didn't have in 1960 or in 1969," he said.

Romney, a former president of American Motors and once governor of Michigan, said neither Nixon nor Sen. George McGovern, had approached the real issues during the presidential campaign.

He defined the real issues as the problems of the cities, the excessive concentration of union and corporate power and the expansion of the federal government.

As yet, only the rough outlines are visible of Romney's plans for reforming the federal government from the outside.

Private citizens will gather information designed to lead government to public solutions of problems.

"Such a body of truth seekers and communicators could create an enlightened electorate so that the parties and their candidates would find it to their advantage to seek voter support on the basis of the real issues rather than appealing to public and frequently superficial concerns of the moment," he said.

Romney was the first high-ranking Nixon administration official to resign since the President began working on organizing and staffing his second term.

He had, however, indicated as early as last August his plans to leave, though not until after the Nov. 7 election.

Romney's frequently open unhappiness in his role as Cabinet officer stems in part from his success as the man who put new life into American Motors and as the innovative governor of one of the most populous states.

Romey has always been happiest and most effective when he has been the boss with a responsibility only to himself or his constituents.

Romney was once a missionary for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Morman) and remains a devout member.

As HUD secretary, Romney was never really trusted by Nixon's top staff. They found him the same impatient evangelist whose presidential ambitions were thwarted in 1968. They doubted his conversion and loyalty to the Nixon presidency, despite his speeches to the contrary.

Mayors Take Divided Stand On Gun Control Legislation

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The nation's two largest organizations of city officials — the National League of Cities and the U.S. Conference of Mayors — are divided on the issue of gun control legislation, putting their joint lobbying staff in a delicate position.

The Public Safety Committee of the League created the difficulty Monday, the first day of the league's four-day annual meeting here.

By a voice vote, the committee not only rejected the stiff gun control resolution passed by the Conference of Mayors last June, but also deleted the weak resolution passed by the League last year. That one had called for federal laws against interstate sale of all firearms and mandatory minimum sentences of 10 years for use of a firearm in any crime.

As it stands now, the League's policy statement does not mention gun control legislation. The Conference of Mayors, however, called in June for national legislation against the manufacture, importation, sale and private possession of handgun except by law enforcement personnel, military and sportsmen's clubs, a national handgun registration law, state registration for all firearms and state licensing for persons who carry guns.

The difference stems from the nature of the two organizations. The League represents 15,000 cities, with no limit on their size, so that even small towns are represented. The U.S. Conference of Mayors is open only to chief executives of cities over 30,000 persons.

The mayors and other city officials divide on this issue largely along big city and small town lines.

Unless a change is made in the League's Resolutions Committee meeting late today or the final general session on Thursday, the division will force Washington lobbyists for the League and the Conference to tread a narrow line. The staffs of the two organizations were merged in 1969, for economy and greater clout.

Allen E. Pritchard Jr., executive vice president of the National League of Cities, said, "It's unusual, but it's not the first time one group has had a policy and the other has had none on the same issue.

Lt. Calley Makes Clemency Plea

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who has spent much of the last 19 months in the home that is his prison, playing with pets and puttering in the garden, has made a plea for clemency.

Calley, convicted in March 1971 of the murders of 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai, answered questions Monday from the three-man Army Clemency and Parole Board, which flew here from Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

The officers walked quickly from the red-brick apartment after their private session with Calley, which lasted nearly two hours. Waiting military cars whisked them away before newsmen could question them.

The clemency officers were Lt. Col. Harvey C. Johnson, Capt. James E. Brawner and Capt. Ray V. Smith.

The clemency board's report when completed will be sent to the commander at Ft. Benning and then will go directly to the Army's provost marshal general.

In a separate proceeding, the U.S. Court of Military Review will convene at Falls Church, Va., on Monday to hear a brief contending that Calley's court-martial contained at least 32 errors of fact. It is part of the automatic appeal of his sentence.

Calley, a 29-year-old platoon leader, was sentenced to life imprisonment, but that term was later reduced to 20 years.

After the nationwide reaction to Calley's conviction and sentence, President Nixon ordered him removed from the stockade at Ft. Benning and returned to his apartment, where is guarded continuously by a military policeman.

Calley spends his days tending pets — a beagle and a minah bird, whose raucous cries can be heard by neighbors — and puttering in his garden. He has few visitors now.

Two New Racial Outbreaks in Navy

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Navy investigators, already involved in probes of racial conflicts on three ships, looked into two new outbreaks today—one on tiny Midway Island in the Pacific and the other in a brig at the big Norfolk, Va., naval base.

The disturbances occurred over the weekend, spokesmen said. They were reported Monday. The Navy gave these details:

—At Midway, about 30 black and 100 white junior enlisted men fought a 30-minute Saturday night brawl in a recreation area. Four whites and one black were treated for minor cuts and bruises and returned to duty. No charges were filed pending completion of an investigation by a three-officer team headed by the Pacific Fleet's inspector general, which was flown 1,000 miles to Midway from fleet headquarters in Hawaii.

—At Norfolk's Camp Allen Correctional Center, some blacks Sunday burned mattresses, smashed through the door of a dormitory and defied Marine guards who attempted to place four of them in separate cells.

Officers said the incident started as a fight between one black and one white and that three other blacks later joined the fracas. The blacks eventually gave up and 32 blacks and one white were locked up in individual cells while an investigation was carried out.

The two new incidents followed a brawl aboard the carrier Kitty Hawk, a sitdown strike on the carrier Constellation, and a fight on the oil tender Hassayampa.

A House of Representatives subcommittee is probing the earlier incidents.

Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, the Navy chief of operations, has sternly ordered his subordinates to halt all racial discrimination in the Navy and at the same time has warned Navy enlisted men they will be punished for any breaches of discipline.

Monday, the House subcommittee finished taking testimony at San Diego about the trouble on the Constellation. The Kitty Hawk was due in the Southern California port today.

The congressmen will start their probe of the Kitty Hawk fight next Monday. The carrier was on station off Vietnam when the fight broke out, injuring 46 men. The Hassayampa fight also occurred while the ship was off Vietnam.

Defendant Slugs Attorney

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Quentin lifer Ruchell Magee, the "other defendant" in the Angela Davis murder case, started his trial on an unruly note Monday by slugging his lawyer and shouting "stupid, dumb judge."

Magee, 32, whose murder and kidnaping trial was separated from that of Miss Davis because of repeated courtroom outbursts and delays caused by his handwritten motions, was removed from court to a holding cell after both incidents.

He and Miss Davis were charged two years ago in connection with the Aug. 7, 1970, gun battle at Marin County courthouse in which a judge and three other men were killed. Miss Davis, a Communist and black revolutionary, was acquitted last June after a lengthy trial.

Superior Court Judge Morton R. Colvin ordered the screaming defendant out of court during the opening session for repeatedly ignoring warnings to be quiet.

"You are a stupid, dumb judge! I'd like to get my hands on you!" shouted Magee as he was led out by bailiffs.
